Strike Called

Van Doos May Police Quebec

OTTAWA (CP) — Three companies of the Royal 22nd Regiment—some 450 men—and four RCAF Hercules transport planes Friday stood by near Quebec City for police duties after the Quebec Provincial Police decided to strike next Thursday.

MAJORITY

Robert Burns, legal adviser to the QPP Association, said exact figures for the voting were not immediately available but said the motion to strike had been carried by a "strong majority of those present."

The transport planes would be used to deploy the troops to key points in the province, and informants said more members of the "Van Doos" could be called up for police duty if necessary.

NEAR QUEBEC CITY

The troops are at Camp Valcartier, near Quebec City, and the planes at the Quebec City airport.

Officially, the defence department merely said the three companies of troops were on mobile command manoeuvres.

Informants said there have been negotiations between Ottawa and Quebec most of this week concerning possible use of the army as police.

Sources said the exercise was planned as an elaborate cover for assumption of police duties in case Quebec provincial policemen voted to strike immediately.

Night of Knifepoint Terror

VANCOUVER (CP) — A former mental patient held a terrified little girl at knifepoint for two hours Friday at a West End intersection.

He suddenly released the child, plunged the knife into his stomach and toppled to the ground.

Debbie Tans, four, was safe, after being clutched in the arms of a shouting, incoherent stranger, who held an eight-inch blade to her midsection.

Jiro Stankovic, 42, former Essondale mental patient, lay in hospital with a wound in the stomach, after stabbing himself Friday night, to end a chain of horrors.

Theodore Kaczor, 55, and his son Teddy, six, were recovering from stab wounds received in a terrible brush with knife-wielder.

The man said he was a Yugoslav. He talked in garbled, confused tones of his misery, unemployment and growing bitterness toward society, holding the police at bay with threats against the child.

Sometimes he used an electronic loudspeaker provided by the police, most of the time he bellowed hoarsely at the shadowy figures moving about him in the twilight.

NEAR WALL

Backed against the concrete wall of a building under construction, he told how the day before he had approached the Yugoslavian consulate to ask for a free ticket home—but had been refused.

Stankovic said he had been working at Hudson Hope in northern B.C. but was fired after two weeks. He said he stole a car and drove to Vancouver.

TOLD TO GO

Police were chasing him, he said, and Friday morning he went to the Vancouver police station to get help. They said he was crazy, and told him to go away, he claimed.

He wandered around all day Friday, then at 8 p.m. the terror started.

He grabbed six-year-old Teddy Kacsor.

Anti-Inflation Squeeze Stays, But . . .

Health Projects Go Ahead

By JACK FRY
Legislative Reporter

Public Works Minister William Chant Friday eased the government's new health priority program into operation by announcing that work will continue on three provincial health facilities in British Columbia.

But he reiterated that the government's anti-inflation measures are still in effect, and denied a report in another newspaper that the "big squeeze" has been loosened on all major government projects.

* * *

The new developments are in keeping with recent policy statements by Premier Bennett that although the public works department has been instructed to delay any project in which the bids are out of line, a number one priority will be given to health and mental health facilities.

Mr. Chant Friday opened tenders which had been called for excavation of a site for a new mental hospital, on the eastern side of Royal Jubilee Hospital.

* * *

Lowest bid was $20,464 submitted by Dillabough and Luney of Victoria. Other bids were Wakeman and Trimble Construction Ltd., Victoria, $24,333; Oliver Equipment Service and Supply Ltd., Victoria, $26,480; Ch / Excavating Ltd., Victoria, $26,850 and C. J. Oliver Ltd. of Vancouver, $29,500.

A contract will probably be awarded within a week, said the minister.

Other health projects on the priority list include the multi-million dollar Glendale retarded children's complex about a mile north of the Wilkinson Road jail and an expansion of the Burnaby mental health clinic which wil. be renamed the Burnaby residential care centre.

Programming has been started on the Glendale project, but plans have yet to be drawn. Mr Chant said it is possible construction can be started before the end of the year.

* * *

Excavation work at Burnaby is expected to be done in July and work on this project will be phased out on a continuous basis from then on.

The government's public works slowdown was brought about by a "tremendous upsurge of costs," said Mr. Chant. "But some of the buildings we simply must proceed with because of the public need."

* * *

The new provincial museum was one of the projects where work came to a near standstill, while plans were being redrawn to cut down expenses.

Tenders for the revised version will probably be called about a month from now, although the tall curatorial building "may have to come later," the minister said.

Run Out of Fuel

SIX JETS CRASH IN SPAIN

SEVILLE, Spain (UPI)—Six French Mystere IV supersonic jets ran out of fuel and crashed near here Friday while on a navigation training flight from France to Seville. All six pilots parachuted to safety, airport sources here said.

The sources said the pilots exchanged agonizing messages by radio as, one by one, their engines cut out and their fuel gauges dropped to zero.

A curtain of secrecy immediately was dropped over the crashes, but in Paris the defence ministry announced that the planes were from the Cazaux base near Bordeaux.

They could not land at Seville "apparently because of meteorological conditions, and subsequently crashed because of lack of fuel," the ministry's communique said.

NO VICTIMS

"The pilots used their ejection seats and to our knowledge there were no victims among the pilots or the civilian population," the communique added. "There was no material damage on the ground. An inquiry is in progress."

Five of the pilots were reported here to have been taken to the Spanish-American naval base at Cadiz. The sixth pilot was said to be in Huelva.

An airport spokesman confirmed that the planes were due at Seville's civilian airport of San Pablo for refuelling. He re-

Concord Engine Whacked

BRISTOL, England (UPI)—An unknown saboteur damaged part of the engine being developed here for the Anglo-French supersonic Concord jet airliner project, the Bristol Siddeley Co. announced Friday night.

It said the damage would not affect development of the engine as a whole.

A spokesman for the company said someone had taken a hammer and damaged a shaft for an Olympus 593B engine Thursday night.

Beside the hammer was a note which read, "This is the mallet which did the job. I wish I could be here to see the fun."

Goodwill Crushes 'Crush'

KUALA LUMPUR (AP) — Deputy Prime Minister Tun Abdul Razak of Malaysia said Friday Indonesia's undeclared war against his country has "unofficially ended."

This is proved, he said, by the unprecedented visit of an Indonesian goodwill mission made up of military men, most of them connected with the "crush Malaysia" command, which directed the confrontation begun three years ago.

The eight - man mission brought word from Indonesian strongman Lt. - Gen. Suharto that the military authorities in power in Jakarta sincerely want to end the feud with Malaysia, Razak said.

* * *

The deputy premier told a press conference the visit did much to remove any doubts Malaysia may have had about peace talks in Bangkok, Thailand, between Razak and Indonesian Foreign Minister Adam Malik, scheduled to begin Monday.

Razak said he is confident the talks will succeed and added half-jokingly that now there is "nothing very much to be discussed."

* * *

The Indonesian military delegation arrived Friday morning aboard an Indonesian Air Force transport that had been given special clearance by the Malaysians in secret arrangements said to have been conducted on a rush basis in Bangkok.

The officers, led by Rear Admiral O. B. Sjaat, spent seven hours here in the northern Malaysian town of Alor Star, in discussions with Malaysian leaders.

50 Years Since History's Longest, Bloodiest Battle

500,000 Flocking to Verdun

VERDUN, France (UPI) — More than 500,000 persons will join President de Gaulle today in commemorating the 50th anniversary of the Battle of Verdun, France's greatest military victory and the longest and bloodiest battle in the history of war.

* * *

It was in the Battle of Verdun, lasting more than 500 days in 1916 and 1917, that the French held and finally flung back the invading Germans in the First World War.

More than 400,000 Frenchmen and more than 300,000 Germans died in the holocaust.

* * *

Today and Sunday morning de Gaulle will lead the nation in all-French Commemorations of what Frenchmen remember with pride as an all-French victory. The ceremonies will be climaxed by a broadcast speech to the nation by de Gaulle at noon Sunday.

* * *

Verdun, a small eastern French city of 30,000, already was jammed with pilgrims arriving by rail and road. French tricolor flags draped every public building. Every other shop window featured a photograph of First World War French soldiers.

More than 5,000 police and thousands of French army troops were mobilized to control the vast crowds. Highways in a radius of 35 miles from the city were strictly guarded. Police helicopters roared overhead continuously.

* * *

Verdun is still a French army garrison town and all army barracks in the vicinity were vacated to provide sleeping room for the vast influx of pilgrims — including an estimated 40,000 First World War veterans, now in their seventies.

* * *

The main ceremonies Saturday night will take place on the heights of Douaumont to the north of the city, where the bodies of 15,000 French soldiers lie buried in a national cemetery and the bones of another 19,000 are housed permanently in a necropolis or "ossuary" surmounted by a 140-foot tower.

* * *

It was at Douaumont that some of the bitterest and bloodiest fighting raged. Even now unexploded shells and skeletons frequently are unearthed. In the past two months alone another 45 skeletons were dug up. It rarely is possible to identify them a either French or German.

Child Threatened

dent and told him to leave Teddy alone. The man let go of Teddy and started chasing them, but they got away.

The man returned, caught Teddy again and stabbed him. The child's father, Theodore, pulled his bleeding son from the man's arms and was slashtd across the hands, chest and back.

FIGHTING

"My husband and the other man were fighting," said Mrs. Erna Kaczor. "Then my husband fell to the ground. He was holding onto my boy.

"The man with the knife grabbed my other boy (Frankie, five) and I ran up to try and get him," she said. "A boy about 115 threw a stone and I stepped back.

STONE FLEW

"The man said, 'don't come closer or I'll kill him.' The stone didn't hit the man but he dropped my son and ran down the lane."

Several blocks later the man reached the home of four-year-old Debbie. The little girl was playing on the front porch of her home with some young friends.

She screamed as the man scooped her into his arms and headed up the street. He carried her to a partly-finished building and it was there that a two-hour wait began.

CROWD CONTROL

All available detectives were soon at the scene, joining 25 constables and four sergeants. Police co-ordinated control of the surging crowds with walkie-talkies.

CIGARETTE

At first he refused to let the police near. Then he relented, asked for a cigarette, and a policemen threw a pack near his feet.

"I want to tell my story," he cried in broken, faltering English. "I want to tell about the people who are after me."

Detectives brought a doctor and interpreters and promised him he would be placed in the doctor's care if he let Debbie go. An interpreter asked for newsmen and several went to him, assuring the man that his story would be told.

A priest from the Serbian Orthodox church tried to approach, but the man pressed the knife closer to the breast of his young hostage.

"I want to finish my story," he growled. Then he started to shake.

The interview was over, police said, his story had been told.

CHILD FREED

He stood up and let Debbie go. She stumbled, tears streaking her face, toward the crowd and the arms of her mother.

The man stepped back at the same instant, grasped the knife with both hands, and plunged the blade into his stomach.

BLOODY DIRT

As police loaded him into an ambulance, the crowd surged forward to get a look at Debbie's captor.

"Look — souvenirs," he said to his friends.

Six Jets Crash

The French consulate in Huelva confirmed that one pilot, identified as Capt. Bertrend Olivier, 27, landed 3.8 miles from Huelva and bailed out safely from 3,000 feet. His aircraft hit the ground about 100 feet from the main road and burned.

There were reports not confirmed officially that another of the jets landed in Portuguese territory.

The Spanish news agency CIFRA said one of the jets went down near Lepe. It had been piloted by Sgt. Michel Misret, 27. Another plane was reported to have gone down near Villafrance, but the wreckage was not found immediately.

The flight was reported to be under the command of Capt. J. Guers. The other pilots were identified as Lts. Turina, Brie and Perenne.

Jet With 109 Blows Tires

ATLANTA (UPI) — A New York - bound Delta jetliner with 109 persons aboard made a "precautionary" landing at the Atlanta airport Friday, blowing out all four tires on the left side of the main landing gear. None of the 102 passengers or seven crew members was injured.

The DC-8 had taken off for New York when cabin instruments showed the temperature of the hydraulic brake fluid was excessive.

Your Good Health

Those 'Deals' Between Meals Only Cause Frequent Squeals

By JOSEPH MOLNER, MD

Dear Dr. Molner: My four-year-old hardly touches his food at the table. However, within an hour after dinner he is looking for something to eat. I have tried everything, including bribes, no dessert without finishing dinner, etc. Have you any suggestions? — MRS. O.K.

You've tried everything except the one way that virtually never fails — and that's to put food before a child at mealtime. Let him eat it or not, but establish a rule of no eating between meals. And make it stick.

GOOD RULE

A good rule is no dessert unless an adequate dinner has been eaten, but it won't cure the habitual food-fusser. The no-eating-between-meals will.

At the age four, any child can have some rather firm ideas and habits. As soon as you try my suggestion, I'm sure you'll run into some complaints and whining any maybe tears. Don't get mad. Just be firm. A healthy child's appetite, under such a rule, fairly soon makes it clear to him that the way not to be hungry is to eat his dinner when it is served.

NO FUSSING

Another part of the rule is this: No fussing at mealtime. If he doesn't even raise a fork, ignore it and ignore it just as firmly and calmly when, as he is sure do, he tries the old system that has always worked for him before: Trying to wheedle food an hour after dinner.

Judge's Probe 'Premature'

IWA Offers to Resume Talks

VANCOUVER (CP) — The prospects of settlement have brightened in B.C.'s biggest labor dispute — between the 26,000 - member International Woodworkers' of America and Forest Industrial Relations Ltd., representing the giant Coast lumber operators.

In a statement issued Friday, the IWA offered to resume direct wage negotiations with FIR at 10 a.m., Tuesday.

In a statement to the B.C. labor department, the union said the appointment this week of Mr. Justice Nathan Nemetz of the Supreme Court as an industrial inquiry commissioner was premature.

"We will do our best to cooperate with the commissioner should direct negotiations fail, however," the statement said.

The union is asking a pay increase of 50 cents an hour atop a basic wage of $2.36 and fringe benefits. The companies are asking protection against wildcat strikes.

The brightest labor note Friday in B.C. was the announcement of a settlement of a month-long strike involving the Glaziers and Glassworkers' Union (CLC) and eight Vancouver companies.

Bail Reduced

VANCOUVER (CP) — Mr. Justice H. W. McInnes reduced bail for Rene Castellani, 40, to $15,000 from $25,000 because certain witnesses in the case are in Europe and will not be back for some time. Castellani is accused of the arsenic death of his wife last year.

Strike and Strike Threat Hit Refuse, Sea, Transit

From UPI, CP

Labor trouble has hit hard in many cities.

In Toronto, blind strikers turned down a peace offer from the Canadian National Institute for the Blind.

* * *

* * *

● Company's coming and Vancouver's just a mess. Some 20,000 U.S. tourists are expected to visit the city during the Memorial Day weekend and Vancouver's streets are littered with refuse. The three-week strike of Civic Outside Workers has left the parks, golf courses and boulevards in an unkempt and untidy state. Things will get worse, for the end of the strike is not in sight.

● An offer made to striking blind workers at the Canadian National Institute for the Blind in Toronto has been turned down. W. M. Mayne, personnel director of the CNIB said. About 30 blind workers with white canes picketed.

● Management and labor representatives involved in a three-port strike of longshoremen in Montreal were unable to reach agreement on fresh settlement proposals Friday. "The union has flatly refused to discuss any reduction in gang sizes," said management.

● A citywide transit strike shutting down all bus, streetcar and subway services is "99 per cent certain" unless the Toronto Transit Commission backs down on its wages dispute with drivers and operators, the union said.

● In Vancouver President Ed Lawson of the powerful B.C. Teamster's union has criticized the British Columbia Federation of Labor for "allowing members of the progressive workers movement to participate in the mass demonstrations at Lenkurt Electric Co."

● There was chaos at Dover Friday as Britons intent upon a Whitsun weekend holiday on the Continent waited vainly for space on overtaxed foreign ferries.

In Southampton, William Hogarth, general secretary of the seamen's union, said British seamen will stay on strike for at least three and possibly up to six weeks longer to win a 40-hour working week.

Germans Lose 56th Jet

BONN (AP)—An American designed Starfighter jet of the West German Air Force crashed Firday, killing the pilot. It was the 56th crash since the West Germans started using the plane in 1961.

The pilot had landed at Hobsten air field but shot past the end of the landing strip and through a fence.

The pilot was the seventh killed this year and the 30th since the starfighter was put into service.

Deputy Sheriff to Claim Rewards

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa. (UPI) — Deputy sheriff Francis Sharpe said today he will claim $3,400 in rewards offered for William D. Hollenbaugh, the sniper of Shade Gap who abducted a 17-year-old girl and killed an FBI agent before being shot to death last week.

The rewards also have been claimed by Larry Rubeck, 15, who fired on Hollenbaugh from inside the farmhouse while two state police troopers exchanged shots with the sniper outside.

Monks Reject Peace Bid From Ky

SAIGON (AP) — Premier Nguyen Cao Ky extended a peace feeler to the Buddhists Friday and conferred with the chief of his foes within South Viet Nam's armed forces. Lt.-Gen. Nguyen Chanh Thi. Monks rejected the peace feeler. conference.

Elsewhere in the civil crisis that South Viet Nam's military government hopes now to end without further recourse to arms:

● Tear gas and warning shots from South Vietnamese marines suppressed rioting by a howling mob of 2,000 of 3,000 anti-government, anti-American demonstrators who marched in torch-lit processions from a rally at the Buddhist Institute in Saigon.

● Civil authority collapsed in Hue, a stronghold of Buddhism and rebellion 400 miles north of Saigon. The mayor, Lt.-Col Phan Van Khoa, who also is governor of Thua Thien province, pulled out with 1,000 loyal troops and set up headquarters at Hung Thuy, five miles away. Forty-five Americans and other foreign nationals also quit the city.

● On the war front, two Communist Viet Cong battalions attacked a Vietnamese-American special camp west of Saigon Friday night. They fired mortar and 57 millimetre recoilless rifle fire into the camp, which contained a reinforced U.S. Green Beret Detachment.

Victoria Couple Evacuated

SAIGON (AP)—Among foreigners evacuated from Hue Friday were Mr. and Mrs. Peter Wiwcharuk of Victoria, who had been in Hue in connection with the construction of a new school. Mrs. Wiwcharuck said of the evacuation: "This is our second one, but we're coming back—we hope."

Mr. and Mrs. Wiwcharuck left Victoria in March of this year after he retired from the navy as a Lieutenant Commander.

He was working for the World Relief Commission building a school to teach the Vietnamese trades.

Body Recovered

REVELSTOKE, B.C. (CP)—Skin divers have recovered the body of Charles Henry Roy, 19, whose car Saturday plunged 250 feet down an embankment into the Illecillewaet River, 21 miles east of here.

Fateful Message

NO MORE DEVASTATING criticism of the behavior of the Canadian House of Commons has ever been heard on any platform or in any forum than that delivered in the Senate by one of the nation's ablest and most respected elder statesmen.

Because Senator T. A. Crerar is a truly great Canadian his quietly-spoken condemnation had the heavier impact.

When he said he was greatly disturbed by "the failure of Parliament to maintain its standards," he was expressing in terms lesser men might find it hard to find the feeling of exasperation, disgust and indignation that has swept the country.

"It's a great misfortune for a country," he said, "when its people commence to lose faith in its public institutions . . . there should always be a respect for public men who occupy for the time being responsible positions. . ."

It is also a great danger to these very institutions.

With his reproach directed to the House of Commons came the even more startling condemnation of the leadership of the two older parties which the senator obviously blames for the loss of parliamentary dignity and prestige.

That Prime Minister Lester Pearson should have earned the denunciation of so distinguished a member of the Liberal Party must cause that leader the deepest hurt not only to his pride but to his political standing.

Senator Crerar's inclusion of Mr. John Diefenbaker in his criticism is scarcely less damaging to the standing of the leader of the Conservative Opposition.

"I hope to live long enough," he said, "to see the prestige of Parliament fully restored. . . . We shall never get right until there is a change in leadership of the two older parties. . . ."

He went on to speak of the futility of attempting progress without the able leadership the Canadian people deserve, and he expressed confidence that leaders will be found of a capacity to ensure the achievment for which the country is naturally equipped.

The senator is 90 years old. He is the only living member of Sir Robert Borden's Union government of 1917. He was founder and leader of the Progressive Party which held the balance of power with 64 seats in 1921. He was a member of every government formed by William Lyon Mackenzie King after 1930 until his appointment to the Senate in 1945. He is the only man to have held cabinet rank through two world wars.

He is, in a word, part of a great Canadian tradition of devoted and inspired service by public-spirited men and women.

Senator Crerar sees very clearly the difficulties and dangers faced by the nation, and it is a simple formula he offers for their solution in an admittedly critical situation. He recommends, among other things, a more conservative fiscal policy in this "most over-governed country in the world."

"It is supreme folly to expand services spending . . . and never balancing the budget," he warned.

When Senator John Connolly, government House leader, eulogized the senior senator at the end of his address, his voice broke, and when he resumed his seat he wept.

All Canada will feel a similar emotion at the words of admonition from a statesman whom all hold in the highest esteem; but for the most part it will be a feeling of pride that the country can breed such sons.

Price of Gasoline

THE HUBBUB OVER gasoline prices in British Columbia which instigated a recent Royal Commission on the subject looks like breaking out again in the Victoria area where some dealers have increased their prices by one cent a gallon, while others have not.

Regular gasoline in Victoria is selling from 39.9 cents a gallon by some independents to 42.9 cents a gallon by a small minority, with the rest selling at 41.9 cents.

It would be wrong to assume, however, that the present situation is going to create another gas price-war in which prices will be slashed. Indeed most dealers are no longer buying on consignment from the refiners, as they were forced to do when the war was in progress. They are again outright buyers and are making their profit from whatever mark-up they charge, and this is a matter to be decided by each individual operator.

The present retail mark-up for those charging 41.9 cents a gallon is seven cents. A number of operators say this is not sufficient to meet present-day costs, and compares unfavorably with the 8½ cents a gallon mark-up that was charged before the gas war brought on consignment buying.

Some operators who have increased their price to 42.9 cents a gallon say that they have done so to meet the cost of various free-gift promotional contests being staged by some of the refining companies.

The oil companies concerned do not take this view. Despite the fact that their dealers are being charged from 5 cents to 1 cent for the entry form on each purchase made at their stations, most of them are said to be doing bigger gallonage than before the contests were initiated.

It is thus generally felt in the industry that the contests are merely being used as an excuse to have the local gasoline mark-up raised to something nearer its pre-price-war level.

Meantime it has to be seen whether the service stations making the higher charge will be able to retain their customers when the same gasoline can be obtained elsewhere at a cent a gallon lower price.

At present, they may be doing so for it is only the odd motorist who looks at the price tag on the pump. He usually says "fill-her-up" and pays, or signs for, the amount asked.

Once he knows that a three-cent spread in gasoline prices is now available locally he may become more inquisitive.

A Break in the Clouds

Washington Calling

A Chance for Statesmanship

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WITH the summer reruns beginning on television, the news on the diplomatic side also has that tired, rerun quality. It is the familiar formula of the good guys versus the bad guys, with the good guys winning in a final burst of rifle fire just before the last commercial.

President Charles de Gaulle of France is cast as the heavy villain in the episodes just ahead. In the fastness of the Elysee Palace in Paris, he has been plotting to pull down the pillars of a United Europe. So Destry, in the person of Secretary of State Dean Rusk, rides again, this time to the NATO meetings in Brussels.

At Brussels the NATO ministers will begin studying where to locate NATO's new headquarters, now that the deadline for de Gaulle's eviction notice is near. Whether it is London or Bonn or somewhere in Belgium or Holland, the uprooting process will be painful and costly. The United States will pay most of the bill of not less than a half-billion dollars for relocating the transportation - communications complex embedded in the heart of France.

Physically this can be accomplished. A show of hands will put the NATO partners, excluding France, on the side of Washington. But if Rusk presents the old formula of NATO as a military alliance with the goal of standing off the threat of the Soviet Union, it will be a triumph with little real meaning.

For the signs are multiplying that the discontent with NATO is not confined to de Gaulle. After a survey of principal NATO capitals, Arnaud de Borchgrave, Newsweek senior editor in Europe, reported recently that the unrest with the old military concept — the stand-fast line — was widespread. European diplomats have long been saying this in private.

In the cold calculation of unity versus nationalistic rivalry, the odds for peace or war, de Gaulle can be scored against on one point after another by the Washington scorekeepers. It is too early, however, to say where the blame will untimately rest. In 1958, de Gaulle proposed a tripartite arrangement, with France, Britain, and the United States to cover all foreign policy determinations everywhere.

The French logic was that if the United States with its vast nuclear superiority was to get into a war in whatever part of the globe, the principal NATO allies would be involved; and, therefore, they should be in on the take-off as well as the crash landing. The Eisenhower administration, after backing and filling about "consultations," let the matter drop. The French argument today is that the truly crucial decisions are the nuclear decisions and, if the allies are excluded from this area, then the NATO alliance has little meaning.

But it was in the following year that de Gaulle's obstructionism was so costly. Secretary of State Christian Herter, who has never had his just due, initiated a break-through with the Soviet Union. President Eisenhower received Khrushchev in September and he was to have returned that visit in November. There was every indication that his appeal for peaceful co-existence and a pause in the arms race would have had wide popular response. But de Gaulle insisted that he have his own session with Khrushchev before this encounter. The Eisenhower visit was delayed, the 1960 summit meeting collapsed over the shooting down of a U-2 plane over Soviet territory, and Ike never went to Moscow. In retrospect, this may have been a last chance for an East-West understanding.

Now de Gaulle is off to Moscow. He arrives on June 20 and he speaks on June 21, which will be the 25th anniversary of the German invasion of Russia. No one doubts that he will discuss the postwar German boundaries and perhaps even about the neutralization of Germany.

The talk here about de Gaulle's mission to Moscow sounds like whistling past the graveyard. It will be show, flattery, nothing substantive. Yet, at the very least, he seems likely to come away with an agreement for co-operation in space, nuclear energy and perhaps other fields as well. This is the kind of opening for which Europe has been groping. The NATO powers in Europe are rapidly increasing their trade with the Communist bloc, and this will lead to other forms of co-operation.

This suggests — above all in the timing — that Rusk at Brussels has an unparalleled opportunity for an act of creative statesmanship. The Vietnamese war, it may be argued, makes it impossible. But if he were to propose a new approach to solving East-West differences, he would find a response in NATO that would alter the present outlook and might even contribute to an eventual solution of the Viet Nam conflict.

From the Kitchen Sink

The Ultimate in Walkouts

By CASSANDRA From London

I STARTED yesterday doing some checking up on the number of strikes that this country has suffered recently. When you add the number of industries that have actually downed tools to those who have played outside-edge brinkmanship and threatened to stop work, you get the impression that practically the whole country has ceased work or come precious near to it during the past five years.

Everybody seems to have had a go — including printing and newspapers — and when you read the grievances you cannot help feeling that there ain't no justice in this world.

It is not only the horny-handed sons of toil who have dropped their picks and shovels, but also the elite of the professions who are fed up to the teeth and are demanding a fair day's money for a fair day's work.

Only last Tuesday I was talking to a young house doctor who works in a hospital and whose pay has ranged from £15 to £18 a week minus deductions.

He worked 120 hours one week recently so the money came out to less than three shillings an hour.

The union officials are increasingly powerless and are being taken over by new militant groups. And as for the TUC, in which we all once had so high hopes, it is a co-ordinating committee with nothing to co-ordinate, a council with little to say and an authority with no powers of enforcement.

So let's all strike and let the seamen, who certainly have some sort of a case, throttle this country — in many cases the very same seamen who won the Battle of the Atlantic.

There is only one vast, hard-working, underpaid, patient body of people who never go on strike.

The housewives.

God help us all when they come out marching not from the fo'c'sle, the pits, the railways, the docks, the power stations, the schools, the surgeries and the factories, but from the kitchen sink.

But far away from the frothy London nightclubs, where much of this drip was mopped up, there are still desperate scribes trying to capture the candy-floss atmosphere of this sort of journalism. But I must say I feel some sympathy for a chap or chaps (for these are usually multiple efforts) who write two very long columns published under the heading "Here and There" in the Saigon Daily News, which defiantly describes itself as being on the Nation's March Towards True Democracy.

My colleague Donald Wise, who is now an old-timer in these dreadful parts, sends me a copy of the issue of May 10 with the reflective comment: "Just a few vignettes to instruct you — such is brief life in Saigon."

There are twelve stories. The headings are largely self-explanatory: "Marijuana Again"; "Lock Up Your Safes"; "Twenty-four Americans Punished for Black Marketing"; "Movie-goer Caught" (assault); "King No More" (champion pickpocket arrested); "All Because of a Little Pin" (hand grenade explodes killing sergeant and injuring six civilians); "Two Girls Burned in Big Fire"; "Employee Victimises Bazaar Owner"; "Jealous Woman Sets Fire to Herself"; "Overdose of Medicine" (suicide); "Foreigner Booked for Making Trouble" (sexual assault); "Five Teenagers Arrested" (theft).

* * *

The ferocious sentence of five years including four years in a Soviet labor camp passed on Mr. Gerald Brooke has disgusted most British people and, I hope, warned them of the perils of taking holidays in the Soviet Union, where they will be watched day and night.

Mr. Brooke may have been foolish, but his folly did not warrant his vicious sentence which was part of a heartless ploy to get him exchanged for professional Russian spies now in our custody.

When I visited the workers' paradise I had the usual human limpet attached to me — one Anatole by name, who suffered from cultivated suspicion, wife trouble and indigestion.

The only thing that seemed to cheer him up was bags of boiled sweets.

Mr. Brooke before he visited the Soviet Union was a lecturer in Soviet affairs and the Russian language at the Holborn College in London.

Now twenty teachers from the Soviet Union have just arrived in this country to study our way of life and perfect their English at the British taxpayers' expense.

Guess where their language studies will be held. That's right — in Mr. Brooke's old college in Holborn.

Budapest, a Great City

Good and Bad and Never Dull

By PATRICK O'DONOVAN from Budapest

THE capital of Hungary is, of course, a Communist capital and, at least in foreign policy, its government is as conformist, tough and intractable towards the West as any other. It is, perhaps, the most conformist of them all in Communist terms. It is also singularly unoriginal.

But Budapest itself is, in effect, almost as open to the entry of strangers as Paris. And, good and bad and never dull, it is a great city.

From incessant photography, most people know the confused and exciting symbols of this place, the domed and spikey parliament building, the heaped up castles and palaces — all towering above the Danube. But there is more to it than that.

* * *

There is Communism living side by side with the ineradicable past. There is the strangeness of its residential districts, where a multitude of sandwiched families live cheek by jowl in what were the spacious comforts of pre-war Hungary.

Street after street and square after square are lined with ponderous buildings whose apartments have ceilings 14 feet high. They look like Roman palaces, set shoulder-to-shoulder, though they have been translated into a very German and slightly insane and overwhelmingly vulgar style. Great stone pillars, sometimes caryatids heave up the porchways to the courtyards in which the carriages once turned.

But the buildings are unpainted. The plaster has fallen away. The stone and the brick are pitted with bullet holes, from the times when the Russians drove out the Germans and, in 1956, when they brutally subdued the Hungarian uprising. Now those yards are dank, and rimmed with dustbins. Families huddle in a tenth of what they once owned. Communal staircases are littered and broken. They are like lived-in ruins.

Because these streets, these overwhelming, over-carved, overcornriced, over-scarred back streets are almost empty of traffic, they are deadly quiet. But as you walk them you realize a new noise, blended of countless voices talking in small, curtained rooms; not strident, but considerate and decent: the noise of radios, of a child crying, of a boy shouting in joy. It is not a dead or immured city.

On Sunday, in the huge cathedral, there was the celebration of a local feast. The place is decayed, the paint flaking, the gilding browned. It was also filled with people of all ages. At an altar under the dome, an auxiliary bishop — the cardinal pastor of this diocese is a fugitive in the U.S. embassy — concelebrated a long and stately mass. There were two choirs of baroque magnificence. But, again and again, a tremendous organ would intone a hymn and nowhere in the world have I heard a people sing in such a manner, such slow, majestic, unanimous and, of course, incomprehensible hymns.

In the sun, at a side-walk cafe — and the state provides many — you can sit and watch women dressed plainly but with a stubborn elegance, sipping coffee, or middle-aged men of an almost florid elegance — only their shoes bespeak a constrained economy. There are students rioting past, exuberant, ebullient, dressed in the Italian mode. There are absurd dogs leading pretty girls. There are ladies black as midnight in their widows' weeds. There are women encased in synthetic woollies like chrysalises, humping great bags of essential food.

There are young soldiers, neatly but not aggressively dressed, strolling, obviously with little in their pockets but enjoying being out of barracks. There are young lovers as in any other city. You might say it was all a little on the poor side. You would not say it was Communist.

The shops are adequate without being showy. Food bulges in the windows, and the prices are not impossible. The hotels are properly old-fashioned, with waiters who click their heels. There are also violinists with the unforgivable habit of leaning down to play in your ear. In the heart of this city there is an air of real and determined pleasure.

There is also decay, long tousled grass, dust on the unpainted window-sills, rust on the railings. The great hanging lamps in the porches of the departed or ruined rich are glassless and blind of electric bulbs. The trams are crowded, like fruit baskets. And a sense of recent war still broods over the present pleasure.

* * *

And yet it is a marvellous city and the cliches are true. It is still alive. It is not interested in politics. It is not frightened of the future, and does not expect much in that direction. It seizes on the present and seems surprised it is as pleasant as it is.

It is easy to understand the homesickness of the tens of thousands of Hungarian exiles. The first contact with the dreary socialist suburbs, the tall shabby towers and the air of instant decay is shocking. But the first understanding of the city is enchanting.

For Ontario Women

Senate Dimensions

By SHAUN HERRON

CAN no one rid us of these pestilent politicians? In the king's day it was a pestilent priest and it led to murder in the cathedral. What will it lead to now that Miss Charlotte Whitton has found fresh ground for dissatisfaction with Mr. Pearson and Mr. Diefenbaker?

Miss Whitton declares with inimitable declamation that P and D have insulted 3,000,000 women in Ontario. These two men in collaboration is frightening enough in itself, but for them to collaborate in such enterprise is terrifying. It confirms all that those of us who know what is best for the country have been saying for months: Together, or apart, P and D must go. Apart they are as bad as Tweedledum or Tweedledee: together they are worse than Watson and Letterman.

* * *

Are there really 3,000,000 women in Ontario, as Miss Whitton says? I ask. I should not presume to doubt or challenge. Once on the old Fighting Words program, Dr. James Mutchmor, Charles Templeton and myself sat dumbfounded for 30 minutes tempest-tost in the torrent of theological omniscience that poured from Miss Whitton's bubbling well. If three professionals covered in stricken fallibility in their own field, it is certain that, alone and exposed, I have no intention of challenging Miss Whitton on a mere question of fact.

And all these women, real or imagined, have been recklessly insulted by P and D because none of them has been appointed to the Senate. "Canada has potential women senators who are head and shoulders above any senatorial appointments that have been made." This is what Miss Whitton is reported to have said.

* * *

It has the authentic ring. It is confident, emphatic, unqualified, authoritative and that mystic air of infallibility is clouded only by a measure of ambiguity.

Is Miss Whitton establishing the qualifications of women senators? Does she mean thereby to disqualify herself? One grows accustomed to announcements that the Lions or the Eskimos, Riders, Stampeders or Bombers have signed Joe, John, Willie or Hank Bulinski, who is always 6 feet 6 inches and always weighs 280 pounds. The uninitiated may confuse these sports announcements with the fat stock prices, but this is obviously due to invincible ignorance.

It cannot be, I hope, that Miss Whitton has in mind the on-the-hoof dimensions of Ontario's women? It is not disputed women in the Senate would enliven the air of monastic retirement that hangs about the place. Big women from Ontario would add a note of menace to the affluent tranquility of a club for gentlemen almost past their best. Big women from Ontario who are head and shoulders above the younger senators so recently appointed, would certainly be read as a challenge to them to defend their tribal ground by any means open to them. Especially against women senators who are 6 feet 6 inches and 280 lbs. live weight.

* * *

I deplore Stanley Knowles' determination to abolish the Senate. Indeed, in due season I hope some Liberal or Conservative government will have the wisdom to send him to a reformed Senate. But I cannot accept big Ontario women, head and shoulders above Mr. Knowles or Senator Argue, as a reform measure. It is a provocation, an incitement to the kind of scene that used to take place on the Ottawa city council, a lesser organ of government formerly presided over by Miss Whitton herself.

In such a provocative situation the only possible development I can see is the reform of the press gallery to meet the unquiet revolution in the Senate. Instead of political writers whose hearts are bled white by the subversion of parliamentary order, it will be necessary to draft sports writers to cope with the senatorial tumult. Their hearts bleed less easily.

Foster Hewitt will take his place in Miss Whitton's Senate gallery without being aware that he has moved from the Garden. Annis Stukus will find no real need to adapt his vocabularly to the new situation. Both men will alternate, with their game-language unaltered at any day's sitting, and make the proceedings vividly comprehensible to a Saturday night or Sunday afternoon radio audience from Newfoundland to Vancouver Island.

* * *

Across the continent, the nation's largest listening audience may interpret the deliberations of Ontario's Tessie O'Sheas with unhindered freedom:

"They're hitting tonight." Foster's ageing treble can assure us without incongruity. "They're boarding those little guys with all they've got, and they've got everything."

"The Argos' big end took the Riders' Argue out of that play." from Stukus. 'Must be the biggest end in the game, coast to coast."

I think perhaps I should re-examine Miss Whitton's statement. It must be amenable to other interpretations, for I cannot believe she would lay down conditions that barred her, by virtue of her inches, from an enlivening season of senatorial fisticuffs.

Ontario women, she said. Ottawa is in Ontario. Miss Whitton lives in Ottawa. Ah . . . hear ye indeed, but understand not: see ye indeed but perceive not.

So, let us begin again . . .

Vessel Ending Decade's Rest

After 10 years in mothballs, the 126-foot naval gate vessel Port de la Reine will come back to life June 1 to become a training ship for the Navy reserve.

Commissioning ceremonies will begin at 11 a.m. with Rear Admiral M. G. Stirling, Maritime Commander Pacific, heading the guest list.

Throughout the summer the ship will be used for training reserve naval divisions from across Canada. Each group will spend two weeks aboard.

Regular ship's company will be the commanding officer, Lieut. George Jonstone, five other regular force officers, and four sailors.

STAYING ACTIVE

With completion of the summer training program, the training ship will remain in commission for use by the reserve divisions of HMCS Malahat in Victoria and HMCS Discovery in Vancouver.

Refit work includes improved accommodation, modernization of the cafeteria and removal of winches and other equipment used when a net vessel.

Pension Bids Sought

OTTAWA (CP)—All Canadians reaching age 68 during 1966 should get their application for old age pension payments to the government as soon as possible, the health department said Friday.

* * *

It said 75 per cent of the 80,000 Canadians who will become eligible by the end of 1966 have not yet filed applications to receive the $75-a-month pension. Applications should be in by July in order to ensure that payments to eligible persons will start next January, the department noted.

* * *

Lowering the eligible age for the pension to 68 effective next Jan. 1 is the second step in a five-year program that by 1970 will make the pension available to citizens 65 and over. A citizen must have a minimum of 10 years residence to qualify.

* * *

Application forms are available from any post office and should be mailed to the regional old age security office in the capital city of the applicant's province, the department said.

Harbor Dispute Given Airing

VANCOUVER (CP)—A series of meetings between Canadian Pacific Railway and the National Harbors Board has opened here in an attempt to resolve a 30-year dispute said to be holding up port development. NHB chairman Howard Mann of Ottawa had no comment. Both groups claim ownership of harbor property.

U.S. Couple Ordered Deported

VANCOUVER (CP)—Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stegeman were ordered extradited to the United States Friday to face charges of violating U.S. bankruptcy laws in Oregon.

The former American couple, now residents of Nelson, have 15 days in which to appeal the provincial supreme court order.

American authorities claim the Stegemans in 1960 fraudulently transferred and concealed $65,000 and other assets with intent to evade bankruptcy statutes. The case involved an Oregon construction company they were operating which was later declared bankrupt by its creditors.

Consumer 'Gypped, Robbed'

OTTAWA (CP) — A Toronto New Democratic Party MP asked opposition members Friday to block a routine government supply bill until the Commons is given assurance something will be done about the high cost of living.

However, after a couple of hours debate the bill was approved.

Reid Scott (Toronto Danforth) said the government "doesn't care about the high cost of living" and repeated his party's demand for establishment of a prices review board.

A. B. Patterson (SC—Fraser Valley) said he would not accept the argument that the government's lack of a Commons majority prevented it from dealing with living costs. All parties would support measures "to reverse the trend."

The present government "stands condemned" for not dealing with the problem, he said.

University Convocation Monday

Grads to Total 260

The ceremony begins at 2:30 p.m., when the capped and gowned academic procession enters the university's Gordon Head auditorium.

FOUR DEGREES

Four honorary Doctor of Laws degrees will be conferred. Chancellor J. B. Clearihue, Premier Bennett, Vancouver lawyer Leon Ladner and Dr. Phyllis Ross, retiring chancellor of the University of British Columbia, will receive the honor.

Premier Bennett will give the convocation address.

A second reception will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the Georgian Lounge of the Empress Hotel, followed by the graduation ball at 9 p.m. in the Empress ballroom.

At 3 p.m. Sunday the graduating class will attend the annual baccalaureate service in Christ Church Cathedral. It will be conducted by the Very Rev. Brian Whitlow, dean of the cathedral.

Britons Plan Canadian Plant

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain's big Albright and Wilson chemical group has announced that it will build a $40,000,000 phosphorus plant in Newfoundland. The company said the American-backed project, which follows agreement with the Newfoundland government for the supply of electricity on a 25-year contract, would go into production in 1968.

'Unacceptable'

Explanation Disappoints TV Co-Host

EDMONTON (CP) — Patrick Watson said Friday a statement by the CBC board of directors reaffirming the wisdom of dismissing him and Laurier LaPierre as co-hosts of This Hour Has Seven Days is "unacceptable."

Watson, in Edmonton to address a commencement banquet at Alberta College, said in an interview it is his judgment the CBC statement is "unacceptable and disappointing."

He said it now would be up to the CBC Producers Association whether any action on the statement would be taken.

'JUSTIFIED'

The CBC directors said in an Ottawa statement the reasons for the dismissal of Watson and LaPierre from the television program were "cogent" and "justified."

The statement said LaPierre allowed his opinions and feelings to show through and "tilted the balance of the program."

Watson said "his (LaPierre's) behavior was closely supervised by the producer (Douglas Leiterman) and the public affairs department," and the same applied in his own case.

TOO EARLY

Laurier LaPierre, one of the hosts of the television program This Hour Has Seven Days who was fired from the position by the CBC, said in Montreal Friday night he has no comment to make on the report issued by the CBC board of directors.

"It is too early to make a comment. I will want to see the report first. All I can say at this time is: 'So this is the way the cookie crumbles.'"

Mr. LaPierre said it appears the situation "is just where it was in April."

Mistake Made, Say Directors

OTTAWA (CP) — The CBC board of directors acknowledged again Friday the corporation made a mistake in the way it handled dismissal of hosts of the program This Hour Has Seven Days but reaffirmed that the reasons for the actions were "cogent."

"While it regrets the failure of due process" in the decision not to renew the contracts of hosts Patrick Watson and Laurier LaPierre of the television program, the CBC said in a statement "it still believes that these reasons are cogent and that the action based on them . . . was justified."

The publicly-owned corporation issued a statement on the matter after an afternoon-long meeting of its board of directors.

ASKED RE-EXAMINATION

Stuart Keate, who went on leave of absence from his post as publisher of the Vancouver Sun for a two-week study of the producer - management dispute that blew up around Seven Days, in a report issued Thursday had asked the CBC board re-examine the reasons behind the decision and issue a public statement.

Dealing specifically with the dismissed co-hosts, the CBC statement said:

"Mr. LaPierre's contract was not renewed because it was management's opinion that he did not acquiesce to the principle that the CBC had no pointed view on controversial matters. As co-host of Seven Days, he was identified with CBC and became, whether he wished to or not, a spokesman for it.

OWN FEELINGS

"He often let his own opinions and his own feelings in controversial matters show on the air with the result that he tilted the balance of the program."

Bonner Speaker

Guest speaker Tuesday at the wind-up banquet of the three-day Canadian Better Business Bureau's convention at the Empress Hotel will be Attorney-General Robert Bonner.

Twenty delegates and their wives from the 10 Better Business Bureaus across Canada converge on Victoria Sunday for the opening day of the 20th convention.

U.S. Releases Guyana Base

GEORGETOWN, Guyana (UPI)—The United States has relinquished all claims to Atkinson Field, one of the air bases Britain traded for over - age American destroyers in 1940. The 99-year lease of the 17,000 acres was formally declared null and void in simultaneous declarations here and in Washington.

Keate Praised

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto television producers said Friday CBC acceptance of the Keate report on the Seven Days controversy would resolve "the most serious problems now confronting the corporation and in particular its production community."

The Toronto Association of Television Producers in a statement commended Vancouver publisher Stuart Keate for his "grasp of the issues" on the dispute over dismissal of the co-hosts of This Hour Has Seven Days.

But the association did not respond to Mr. Keate's recommendation that the producers suspend their threatened strike. The statement said no decision could be made until it was learned what the CBC board would do in re-examining management's methods in firing Patrick Watson and Laurier LaPierre.

IN KENYA the sun scorches all year round. So wise Kenyans mix amazingly tall mixed gin drinks with Gilbey's London Dry. They choose this gin because its perfect balance gives a fresh, clean tasting drink. And perfect balance is what you need when you're sipping a Gilbey's Treetop Special perched atop a giant fig tree.

Gilbey's Treetop Special

In the Kenyan jungle near a waterhole there is a miniature hotel perched atop a giant fig tree. Guests are able to sip a Gilbey's Treetop Special while observing wild game drinking at the waterhole. The drink is a mixture of orange, lime and lemon juices along with Gilbey's London Dry Gin, sugar and soda water.

Khotso's Spell

Another long and very tall Kenyan cooler is named after an African witchdoctor. The reasons for this are somewhat obscure since the witchdoctor, Khotso Sethunza lives in Pondoland. But he is a millionaire which may have helped his case somewhat. The drink is a simple mixture of fresh orange juice and Gilbey's London Dry topped up with ginger ale.

You can rely on Gilbey's London Dry, a perfectly balanced gin that gives you a fresh, clean tasting drink. This gin is an international favourite, sold in 92 countries. It's been made by the Gilbey family for 109 years.

India to Get More Grain From U.S.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman has announced a new "Food for Peace" agreement under which drought-stricken India will receive $313,000,000 worth of U.S. farm commodities, chiefly grain.

The new agreement, announced also in New Delhi, brought to $1,100,000,000 the value of food made available to India since Sept. 30, 1964. It implements President Johnson's special message to congress March 30 in which he proposed supplementing the 6,500,000 tons of food grains allocated to India since last July with another 3,500,000 tons.

VICTORIA (PP)

Morrison's Huge One-Week Used Car Sale seems well on its way to becoming an unqualified success! At last report, 49 cars had been sold to Happy Victorians during the first four days! Apparently residents of this Garden and Seaside City know a Good Deal when they see one! While the populace is behind the sale to a man, the Principals in the affair await word from the Mediator appointed to settle any disputes arising out of excessively low prices! FURTHER STORIES, PICTURES, BELOW:

MAYFAIR-APPOINTED MEDIATOR MULLS MONEY-SAVERS AT MORRISON'S!

Pictured above, Mr. Douglas B. Finlayson as he inspected used car values along with co-hosts at Morrison's Used Car Lot, George Blackburn, right, and Stew Cumberland. Said Mr. Blackburn, "We've presented a true picture to Mr. Finlayson of the sort of bargains to be found at Morrison's Used Car Lot. He told us that never in his long career as a "Fair Play" expert has he been so impressed with value received. And this wasn't said just because we practically 'gave' him a car!"

"I've listened to all sides of the story", commented Mr. Finlayson, "taken time to carefully inspect each price tag on the Morrison Lot and can find absolutely no reason why Victorians should hesitate to make a deal for one of the Morrison specials. I just hope the people spend some of their savings on Fresh Water Cress this season!"

MEDIATOR INVITED TO GIVE UNBIASED REPORT OF FINDINGS:

After a short telephone conversation with the "anti-low-price group" leaders, Douglas B. Finlayson returned to Morrison's Used Car Lot to share his new-found comradeship with Messrs Cumbreland and Blackburn. He announced that he would give his full report in Folk Song Fashion at the climax of the Celebration Party Planned by Morrison's Used Car Sales Staff at the conclusion of the Sale. This arrangement seemed satisfactory to the Mayor of Mayfair, whose premises have been reserved for the occasion.

Canadian 'Toe-Hold' Suggested

OTTAWA (UPI) — Agriculture Minister J. J. Greene and 20 Holstein cows went to Yugoslavia two weeks ago.

The lanky, homespun lawyer from Arnprior, Ont., was the first Canadian agriculture minister to visit the Communist country. He accompanied an exhibit of Canadian cattle which were displayed at an agricultural fair.

Commenting on Yugoslavia's recent switch from a state-run to a more open market economy, Green said:

"This is an entire new opening and opportunity in Eastern Europe and it's something we should be interested in.

"The Yugoslav leaders have looked at the progress of the Western European nations since the war and they want to achieve that themselves. They believe this decentralizing process is in their national interest and they also believe that they can now do more business with the West."

'There's a Bomb' — Lockers Searched

Threat Empties School

Det.-Sgt. Robin Stewart said the school's office received the call at 2:55 p.m.

A male voice said: "There's a bomb going off in my locker in five minutes and don't think I'm fooling you."

* * *

The school was evacuated immediately and Saanich police began a lengthy search of more than 500 lockers.

Area Teachers Name Officers

Ray Wunderlich, a teacher at Oak Bay senior high school, has been re-elected to his second term as president of the Greater Victoria Teachers' Association.

Mr. Wunderlich, of 2624 Fernwood, heads slightly more than 1,000 teachers, the second-largest such group in British Columbia.

Also re-elected were vice-president Kenneth McCulloch of View Royal elementary school, secretary Kory Regan of Victoria High School, and assistant secretary Beth King.

Robert Evans of Cloverdale elementary school was elected to his first term as treasurer.

One Recaptured Four at Large

PORTSMOUTH, England (Reuters) — Police have recaptured one of five convicts who broke out of a bus taking them back to prison Wednesday.

Canadian 'Toe-Hold' Suggested

OTTAWA (UPI) — Agriculture Minister J. J. Greene and 20 Holstein cows went to Yugoslavia two weeks ago.

The lanky, homespun lawyer from Arnprior, Ont., was the first Canadian agriculture minister to visit the Communist country. He accompanied an exhibit of Canadian cattle which were displayed at an agricultural fair.

Commenting on Yugoslavia's recent switch from a state-run to a more open market economy, Green said:

"This is an entire new opening and opportunity in Eastern Europe and it's something we should be interested in.

"The Yugoslav leaders have looked at the progress of the Western European nations since the war and they want to achieve that themselves. They believe this decentralizing process is in their national interest and they also believe that they can now do more business with the West."

'There's a Bomb'

Threat Empties School

Lockers Searched

Det.-Sgt. Robin Stewart said the school's office received the call at 2:55 p.m.

A male voice said: "There's a bomb going off in my locker in five minutes and don't think I'm fooling you."

* * *

The school was evacuated immediately and Saanich police began a lengthy search of more than 500 lockers.

Area Teachers Name Officers

Ray Wunderlich, a teacher at Oak Bay senior high school, has been re-elected to his second term as president of the Greater Victoria Teachers' Association.

Mr. Wunderlich, of 2624 Fernwood, heads slightly more than 1,000 teachers, the second-largest such group in British Columbia.

Also re-elected were vice-president Kenneth McCulloch of View Royal elementary school, secretary Kory Regan of Victoria High School, and assistant secretary Beth King.

Robert Evans of Cloverdale elementary school was elected to his first term as treasurer.

One Recaptured Four at Large

PORTSMOUTH, England (Reuters) — Police have recaptured one of five convicts who broke out of a bus taking them back to prison Wednesday.

Wall Street Completes Gainful Week

The imminence of the three-day Memorial Day weekend was a reason for extreme caution.

Among other gainers were SCM 1⅝, Howmet Corp. 1⅝, Bunker Hill 2½, Vasco Metals 1⅝ and Boeing 3.

Banks Spark Rise

Montreal moved up 1 to 62, Royal ⅜ to 76½, Toronto-Dominion ⅜ to 63¼, Nova Scotia ½ to 71 and Imperial-Commerce ⅜ to 66.

CPR and Consolidated Paper increased 1¼ each to 60 and 38⅜. BA Oil 1 to 33½ and Distillers Seagrams ⅞ to 33⅛.

Inco led base metals higher, climbing 2 to 97½. Noranda and Rio Algom added 1¼ at 53½ and 2⅜ respectively and Denison ⅜ at 47⅜.

Mine Leaders Dip

Vancouver—Prices were again mixed to lower on the mining board. Dynasty dipped to 13.00, Pyramid to 12.25 and Endako to 11.25.

Among speculatives Jersey, Kamloops, Rolling Hills and Westcoast Resources were higher, but Croyden and Buttle sagged.

CPR Advances

MONTREAL (CP) — All sections were fractionally higher in moderately active trading.

Asbestos and CIL climbed ⅜ to 21½ and 18½ respectively.

CPR rose 1½ points to 59⅞ and Brinco ⅜ to 6.

Papers and Banks climbed.

Among senior oils, BA rose ⅞ to 33½ and Shell ⅛ to 21.

Banks Ride To Rescue

By HARRY YOUNG
Business Editor

Gunnar Mining Ltd.'s top management has been almost completely changed and the company's banks loans have been reduced from $45,000,000 to $22,000,000, shareholders were told at the annual meeting Friday.

T. P. O'Connor, president, said that as a mining company Gunnar had been profitable but since it acquired McNamara Corporation, a construction company, it had met nothing but trouble.

In July, 1965 it had bank loans of $45,000,000 and a number of jobs on hand which were going to produce losses.

Mr. O'Connor said the bankers then took a hand and steps are being taken to get the company back into good shape. Gunnar lost $13,293,455 last year and $5,923,607 in 1964.

PLANS ABANDONED

Bell Telephone has abandoned its plans to raise $50,000,000 through sale of bonds in the U.S. market.

The company said it could not raise the money on acceptable terms.

A rights offering to shareholders is now believed to be under consideration as a means of raising the required new capital. Bell's last rights offering took place 26 months ago.

COMPUTER FOR CEMENT

Lafarge Cement is putting a computer into its new Quebec plant that it is claimed will control the blending of materials to precise limits and will control the burning of material in the actual cement making process.

The Canadian General Electric computer will cost about $500,000, and will be the first computer to be used in the cement industry in Canada.

EXPERTS ON TRAVEL

American Express Company has appointed 14 agents across Canada to act as its representatives.

The old-established company, of which Wells Fargo of Cariboo gold rush fame is an offshoot, is the U.S. general ticket agent for Expo.

In Victoria this week was Lawrence G. Peters, Canadian co-ordinator of the New York firm, to discuss American Express services with Blaney's Travel Service Ltd., Victoria representatives of the company.

Cominco Ltd. has purchased a 50 per cent interest in 6,000,000 acres of petroleum leases in the Arctic from Bankeno Mines Ltd. for $500,000.

The leases are on Canadian arctic islands on which Bankeno has spent $600,000 in exploration work.

Placebos Help Some, Not All

Second of two articles
By DR. DONALD ROBINSON

Very few of us have escaped placebos. I've used them to treat patients. I've had them used to treat me. And most physicians would say the same thing.

Some physicians go a step further and prescribe vitamins or aspirin (under an assumed name, and in such colors as pink, blue and green) with the thought that they act as placebos but "just might do some good."

As a psychological instrument placebos certainly have their place. But Dr. Henry K. Beecher, of Harvard University, in a series of experiments, discovered certain individuals reacted to placebos more readily than others.

He suggests such individuals upset drug research results. He advocates pre-experimental evaluation of subjects used for drug tests to eliminate those who can be called placebo reactors.

* * *

Dr. Beecher recorded constricted pupils in patients engaging in research to demonstrate the effect of morphine on pain. Morphine, of course, constricts pupils, but 47 per cent of the patients on whom this observation was made had received placebos — not morphine.

The steroid drugs, cortisone and ACTH, are powerful physiological drugs. They cause reactions in the body that can be measured. Beecher showed that the placebos triggered reactions similar to these adrenal cortical drugs. The changes resembled those produced by the powerful steroids.

Dr. W. B. Tucker found high and low tone hearing loss and other side effects that he expected when he tested streptomycin. But 61 per cent of his placebo-injected patients showed identical response.

* * *

Unnerving to some is the discovery that giving flu shots in industry reduces illness absence in groups which receive flu shots. But those who receive placebos benefit just as much.

Even the common cold has fallen victim to psychosomatic research.

Investigators who have tried to explain these apparent physiological reactions to suggestion believe that the central nervous system (the mind) is capable of bringing about reflex nervous response, secretion from the adrenal glands and many other bio-chemical activities.

* * *

They equate this reaction to placebos to such other things as voodoo, suggestion over life and death, and to the unpredictable results of quack remedies.

Ah, well . . . I think I'll go out and catch a cold or something else diverting. And watch the alcoholic content of those placebos!

Health Minister

Automation Faces Nurses of Future

More changes will be faced by the nursing profession in the next few years than at any other time in the past 100 years, Health Minister Eric Martin believes.

He told delegates attending the annual meeting of the Registered Nurses Association in the Empress Hotel they will face changes in methods of training, concepts of nursing and changes which will result from automation.

"Although automation and computer-programming have produced miracles in business administation, I personally believe that the effect upon medical science will be even more profound," Mr. Martin said.

ENGINEER

"This man is a permanent and indisputable member of the staff at the hospital, which has invested more than $500,000 in electronic devices for the care of patients.

"Such machines, some relatively simple and others incredibly complex, are but one indication of the increasing impact of modern technology upon medical science and the everyday functioning of a modern hospital."

Chamber, Council 'Asleep'

Victoria city council, and the Chamber of Commerce, were "asleep at the switch" when they allowedd the last of the whalers to sink recently, says William Reader, Colwood Regional Services Board Representative.

"I think they have been very neglectful, and if they could raise the old ship and patch it up it would make a wonderful tourist attraction," he said.

HISTORIC PIECE

"It is a piece of Victoria's history which should be preserved. Vancouver acquired the Ss. Ross as an historic attraction, and Victoria should follow that example."

The whaler was one of a fleet which worked out of Victoria. The ships were sold in 1947.

"It should never have been allowed to sink, but perhaps it could still be raised and repaired," said Mr. Reader.

Garibaldi Chairlift Authorized

Garibaldi Lifts Ltd., near Vancouver, was given permission by the provincial cabinet Friday to build an additional chairlift on Whistler Mountain, in the vicinity of Garibaldi.

Seven Charges For Canadian

SPOKANE, Wash. (UPI) — Roman Paul Beaulieu, 26, Hamilton, Ont. has been charged with seven post office burglaries and bound over to federal district court, postal inspectors said Thursday.

Postal Inspector D. M. Hazen said Beaulieu is charged with burglaries of post offices at Electric City, Hunters, Creston, and Spangle. The estern Washington burglaries netted about $550.

Mini-Morals vs. Mini-Skirts

LONDON — American evangelist Billy Graham has advised 3,000 British clergymen to be more concerned with "mini-morals" and less with "mini-skirts."

"Many leaders and writers are saying there is something wrong with our morality," Graham told an inter-denominational meeting.

LONDON — The marriage of Don (Bud) McPherson, 21, former world figure-skating champion from Stratford, Ont., and British skater Carol-Ann Warner, 20, is breaking up after 10 months. Miss Warner's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Victor Warner of London, have filed suit in a British court to have the marriage annulled. The couple, who, her mother says, are "still friends," are skating professionally together in Milan, and will continue to appear together in a tour of the Continent this summer.

★ ★ ★

ST. LEONARDS, ENGLAND — Mrs. Arthur Mitchell suddenly glanced up from her sewing to see a seven-ton steamroller crash into her living room. She was knocked unconscious and taken to hospital along with Thomas Griffin, driver of the steamroller. Griffin said the machine's brakes had failed.

★ ★ ★

WASHINGTON — Lynda Bird Johnson has decided to attend her graduation ceremonies at the University of Texas after all. Informed sources said President Johnson's oldest daughter has decided to go through the commencement formalities June 4, apparently at her parents' request.

★ ★ ★

SALISBURY — Prince Philip visited Britain's gas and germ warfare centre at Porton near this town in western England. He toured the centre and saw detector and protective equipment being designed for Britain's armed services. During his visit banner-waving members of the ban-the-bomb movement paraded outside the centre.

★ ★ ★

DAR ES SALAAM, Tanzania — The United Nations committee on colonialism has requested the release of Rhodesian nationalist leaders Joshua Nkomo and Ndabinge Sithole so they can testify before the committee. the committee decided to cable the British government for their release from the detention, ordered by the white-minority Rhodesian regime of Premier Ian Smith.

★ ★ ★

BUCHAREST — Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi of Iran has arrived in the Romanian capital to begin a state visit. He also will go to Yugoslavia and Morocco.

★ ★ ★

HOLLAND, Mich. — Two-year-old Troy Edwards has died of injuries inflicted by a donkey that grasped him in its jaw and carried him 200 yards. Death was attributed by hospital officials to extensive internal injuries. Troy was visiting a farm near Sagatuck when the animal seized him in a pasture.

★ ★ ★

BONN — Chancellor Ludwig Erhard's chief spokesman says West Germany is interested in an exchange of statements with the Soviet Union on renouncing the use of force. Erhard had a farewell visit from Soviet Ambassador Andrei A. Smirnov, who is leaving after nearly 10 years in Bonn to become ambassador to Turkey.

★ ★ ★

ANKARA — Premier Suleyman Demirel says Turkey will withdraw its 300-man contingent now serving with the UN command in South Korea. A statement gave no date for the withdrawal. The Turks have been in Korea since 1950.

Monkey Law Invalid

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas' anti-evolution law, one of three remaining in the United States, was struck down Friday as an unconstitutional restriction on the quest for knowledge.

Judge Murry Reed of chancery court ruled in favor of Mrs. Susan Epperson, 24, a biology teacher, who filed suit earlier this year challenging the constitutionality of the law.

★ ★ ★

"It sounds very good and I'm very happy about it," Mrs. Eperson said at Little Rock central high school.

Attorney-General Bruce Bennett, who defended the 1928 law as a bulwark against "atheistic religion," did not attend the meeting where Judge Reed handed down his nine-page opinion.

Judge Reed said the law restricts the freedom to learn and the freedom to teach by banning a theory that is not a hazard to the safety, health and morals of the community.

LONDON — A woman failed to get a divorce on grounds that her husband's being a Communist constituted cruelty. Lilian Ingram had complained that her six children were being branded Communists because her husband, William, ran unsuccessfully as a Communist in a local election. The Ingrams have been married for 25 years.

SYDNEY, N.S. — Gov.-Gen. Vanier ended a 16-day tour of the Atlantic provinces by "knighting" a young boy at Louisbourg, N.S. Presented with a sword carved from a swordfish by Tony Santos, 11, the Governor-General touched him on each shoulder and said: "I dub thee Sir Knight."

★ ★ ★

VIENNA — Count Otto Habsburg, former pretender to the Austrian throne, will soon get permission to travel to his native country after 47 years of exile, his lawyer says.

★ ★ ★

LONDON — The Earl of Kintore, 87, who held the hereditary office of Knight Marshal of Scotland, has died. The earl, who owned a large estate in Aberdeenshire, served with the Cameron Highlanders in the Boer War and with the Scots Guards in the First World War.

★ ★ ★

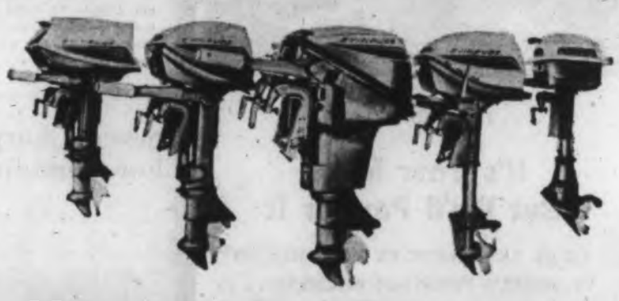
you've got the gang, the gear, and the boat



Now get the Evinrude!

Let's get a move on! There's a great, big sunny summer ahead with all sorts of things to do: fishing, camping, cruising or just relaxing on the water in a boat with a good, dependable outboard motor—an Evinrude. Have you seen our new Folding 3—the little outboard that folds up and fits into a compact, carrying case? Ideal for camping and fishing. You'll enjoy toting this one around. For economy and performance try the rugged Evinrude 5 or our 6 with big motor features. They've been fisherman's favourites since they were first introduced.

And check out the 9½ while you're at it. See why it has become the outboard that tops the list with sportsmen across Canada. Its low silhouette makes it ideal for trolling and it's almost as quiet as the fish themselves. If you want power for water skiing and good, spirited cruising, try the 18—an Evinrude workhorse that does whatever you want of it. There's an Evinrude just right for the activities you have in mind. See them now at your nearby Evinrude dealer, listed in the yellow pages. He has the entire Evinrude line: 3, 5, 6, 9½, 18, 33, 40, 60, 80 & 100 horsepower. Also, OMC stern drive units: 90, 120, 150 and 200 hp. models.

All Evinrudes use a 50-1 gas/oil mixture which increases engine life, saves wear and expense. And every Evinrude carries a full 2-year warranty.

Board Project Now

Water Tunnel Grows 40 Feet Each Day

Hardrock miners are driving ahead at the rate of about 40 feet a day and things are running smoothly since the Greater Victoria Water Board took over the show at its big five-mile tunnel project, Commissioner Ronald Upward said Friday.

The Sooke Lake to Japan Gulch shaft, designed to triple the district water supply has been one big headache since the massive project was started about 2½ years ago.

This spring, Intermountain Construction Limited, the firm which took the job in the beginning, had financial reverses and at the end of April the district board decided to take over and drive the tunnel through on its own. At that time 6,500 feet had been bored.

Mr. Upward said Friday the firm quietly pulled out at the end of April. The water board took over a lot of the machinery and also the crew of 26 miners who work on shifts.

"Both ends of the tunnel are going satisfactorily," said Mr. Upwrad Friday. "We are driving about 18 to 20 feet a day at each end by drilling, blasting and mucking out. The men seem particularly happy. I don't think anyone quite realized the attraction this area held for them."

Meanwhile, the mighty mechanical mole, which drives a good 50 feet a day when operating, is on the sidelines. It has found the soft rock and shale in which the miners are now working indigestible.

ACCIDENTS

Mr. Upward said the work was not going as quickly as it could right now because it was necessary to shore the tunnel all the way. This was made necessary following a series of minor accidents caused by rockfalls.

Also driving ahead is the water district's logging program.

For years the board has taken about 10,000,000 board feet a year off the watershed and things are in full swing right now.

Asked about a report that the watershed was being devastated by logging operations, Mr. Upward said: "We are logging like any other logging company and the area looks like any logged area."

Pupils Refuse To Sing Anthem

PRETORIA (Reuters)—About 600 pupils of the Pretoria Asiatic Boys High School refused to sing the South African national anthem and hurled candy at windows during an anti-government demonstration on the school premises.

The incident occurred at the end of a special celebration at the school to mark the fifth anniversary of white-ruled South Africa as a republic.

In Simplest Terms

Law and the Driver

Many motorists are not aware of the clauses of the B.C. Motor Vehicle Act. For their benefit, the Victoria Chamber of Commerce traffic safety committee has proposed a list of traffic regulations with explanations where needed.

Not included are clauses which refer specifically to professional drivers.

SECTION 128 (18) Lane Direction Control Signals

Where lane direction control signals are placed over individual lanes of a highway, vehicular traffic may travel in any lane over which a green signal is shown, but shall not enter or travel upon any lane over which a red signal is shown.

Comment

An example of this type of lane direction control signal may be found in Vancouver on Georgia Street, and on the road through Stanley Park to Lion's Gate Bridge. e.g. In Stanley Park there is a three lane highway. The centre lane is used by city bound traffic in the mornings and in the evenings by traffic returning to North and West Vancouver. Lane direction is indicated by such red and green direction control signals.

Andretti gives his machine careful attention

Foster to Partner Andretti In Le Mans Endurance Test

Billy Foster, Victoria's contribution to the world of big-time auto racing, is looking past Monday's Indianapolis "500" for new worlds to conquer.

First Canadian to qualify for the Indianapolis classic, Foster's growing status in his field was emphasized yesterday by the disclosure that he will fly to Europe next month to compete in the Le Mans 24-hour endurance test.

And his driving partner for that one will be Mario Andretti, who has the pole position at Indianapolis and is the favorite to win.

Had Third Fastest Time

Foster had his car out for a 10-lap carburetion test with a full load of fuel and reported he averaged "about 158 miles an hour." Only Andretti, who averaged about 160 in his test, and Arnie Knepper did better in the testing that went on yesterday — the last allowed before the race.

Andretti, who set a new qualifying record, and Jim Clark, the Scotsman who upset things last year, by winning the "500" are the drivers to beat in Foster's estimation.

Foster leans a bit towards Clark as the driver to beat, but only a little.

"If I was a spectator and betting on it I think I would bet on Clark," he said. "But Mario has been running the fastest of all and he has to rate as the favorite."

But before Le Mans, there is that Indianapolis thing on Monday and at least three other races.

"I feel confident," he told the Colonist yesterday by telephone, "that I'll finish in the top five if we can run without any trouble."

It was something that could have happened last year. Foster was running easily in seventh place at close to the half-way point when he was forced out by water manifold troubles.

"This," he said, "is an endurance test and everything depends on how your car operates."

He was confident that his rear-engined Ford had every chance of standing up to the 500-mile grind after yesterday's test.

As to his own plans for the race, Foster indicated that he has no ideas of taking part in any early speed duel with Andretti, Clark or any driver who might go out and try to set the pace.

"Of course I'm going to try to win the thing if there is a chance but there are other races to run," he stated.

It indicates that his strategy will be to stay in close enough contention in the early part of the race to move up quickly if any of the leaders should encounter mechanical trouble. He expects there will be plenty of that, and he doesn't want to have it happen to him again.

"It all depends on your car," he repeated. "I think I'll be in the first five if mine stands up."

Offy Arrived Too Late

Foster disclosed that the reason he is driving a Ford instead of a rear-engined Offenhauser, which he drove last year, is that the Offenhauser didn't arrive at Indianapolis until the morning of the ifrst qualifying trials.

"I wanted to qualify early so I took out one of the Fords and made it," he related.

Foster's car is one of the three brought to Indianapolis by Jim Robbins of Royal Oak, Mich., who has two chances for victory.

His other chance is in the hands of Cale Yarborough, a South Carolinan who qualified the other Ford. Robbins' Offenhauser wasn't qualified.

Yarborough, who qualified at 159.7 mph, will start in the eighth row. Foster, who qualified earlier at 159.5 mph, will be in the fourth row.

Le Mans is the race Foster is really relishing but before he heads for France, on June 13, there is a busy schedule.

In the two weeks between Monday and his departure for Europe, Foster is booked to drive in a 100-mile stock-car race in Grand Rapids and 150-mile "big-car" races in Milwaukee and Langhorn, Pa.

"I'm really looking ahead to Le Mans," he said. "Mario and I will be driving four-hour shifts and we think we have a chance."

They'll be driving a X1 Ford and competing against the best road-racers in the world, but they should make up quite a combination. Andretti is rated the brightest newcomer in U.S. big-time racing and the selection of Foster as his co-driver suggests the Victorian has earned comparable rating.

Lansdowne Puts On Spurt Wins Inter-School Meet

Lansdowne, which trailed Central, 56-38, after the field events Wednesday, finished with 112 points to Central's 101. Going into the last event, the senior boys' relay, Lansdowne was ahead, 104-101, but it won the relay while Central failed to place in the top four.

Gordon Head was third with 76 points, Oak Bay had 63, Colquitz 60, and S. J. Willis and Esquimalt each had 35.

To encourage participation, competitors were permitted to enter only two events and a relay. Only two students managed to take firsts in both the events they entered.

Markem Johnson of Oak Bay won the junior boys' 220 yards and the broad jump, and Gloria Young of Central took the senior girls' 100 yards and the broad jump.

Track results:

Yank Haters Squirm While Bombers Fly

The Yankees won their seventh game in eight starts Friday night as Mel Stottlemyre allowed only three singles and at one stretch retired 19 Chicago White Sox in a row. The Yankees won, 4-1, for Stottlemyre's fifth victory of the season against three defeats.

The win left the Yanks 9½ games behind Cleveland Indians, who maintained their first-place lead by beating Minnesota, 5-4. Rocky Colavito singled home Max Alvis in the bottom of the ninth inning to break a 4-4 tie after the Twins had evened the score in the eighth.

It was Cleveland's fourth straight win and its sixth in seven games.

Ray Sadecki continued to have unhappy times with San Francisco Giants. Philadelphia Phillies staged a six-run rally in the fifth inning to chase Sadecki and went on to beat the Giants, 9-2.

It was the fourth straight time the lefthander has been driven from the mound since coming to San Francisco from St. Louis May 8.

Los Angeles Dodgers crept to within 2½ games of the Giants when Claude Osteen pitched a three-hitter to beat New York Mets, 4-0. The victory broke a four-game losing streak for Osteen.

Houston Astros, however, couldn't gain on the Giants. The Astros lose, 6-0, to Pittsburgh Pirates as Willie Stargell and Bill Mazeroski drove in two runs each and Bob Veale allowed Astros only two hits through the first seven innings.

McLarens climbed into a tie for first place again in the Senior "A" Men's Softball League, as they upset Luckies with a come-from-behind, 5-4 victory at Heywood Avenue Park last night.

Behind, 4-2, in the bottom of the eighth inning, pitcher Denis Beaulac helped his own cause by hitting a two-run double with the bases loaded, and as a result set up the winning run scored by Keith Hunter.

Hunter scored when he walked to load the bases, went to third on Beaulac's double and scored on an overthrow by Luckies' catcher Ralph Branting. Branting overthrew third base in an attempt to catch Hunter going back to the bag.

West Indies Disappoint

BRADFORD, England (Reuters)—The West Indians had another drawn match Friday—against Yorkshire—and so far on this rain-marred tour have only one win to their credit. That came against Cambridge University.

Worcestershire beat Kent by 80 runs. Worcestershire 221 for 3 and 162; Kent 77 and 226.

Hampshire beat Gloucestershire by 8 wickets. Gloucestershire 87 and 96; Hampshire 154 and 29 for 2.

Glamorgan 230 for 4 and 137 for 7 declared; Warwickshire 187 for 9 and 154 for 4. Match drawn.

Derbyshire 110 and 208 for 5 declared; Essex 95 and 160 for 4. Match drawn.

Somerset 189 for 8 and 2 for 7 declared; Nottinghamshire 168 for 7 and 62. Somerset won by two runs.

Leicestershire 165 for 7 and 188 for 5 declared; Middlesex 187 for 4 declared and 68 for 1. Match drawn.

Northamptonshire 307 for 6 declared and 191 for 3 declared; Surrey 157 for 9 declared and 181 for 7. Match drawn.

Cancel Race

More New Lions Total Reaches 18

VANCOUVER — There'll be more than 20 newcomers, on hand when the B.C. Lions open their training camp in Courtenay early in July.

Coach Dave Skrien, who also said that there are four other imports and at least one new Canadian whose names have yet to be announced, disclosed yesterday that the Lions have signed their 13th new import and their fifth and sixth new Canadians.

KING-SIZED

Latest import to be signed is Andy Rice, a 255-pound defensive tackle from Texas Southern University who played last season with Wheeling Ironmen in the Continental League.

The new Canadians are Jim Hogan, a 220-pound defensive end from the University of Western Ontario, and Bayne Norrie, a 190-pound defensive halfback from Queen's University. Norrie was at Courtenay last year but came down with tonsilitis the first day of training camp and was through for the season.

Hogan and Norrie join guard Bill Crawford, centre Bill Mitchell, linebacker Rudy Reschke and tackle Mike Webster as new Canadians.

New imports previously signed were ends Len Frketich of Oregon, Mel Profit of UCLA, Dave Moon of USC and Chuck Barnes of Louisiana State, halfback Ron Heller of USC, tackle John Nikirk of Howard Payne, guard Bob Boyd of Sam Houston State, flanker and defensive-back Bud Spicer of Wyoming, defensive-tackle Wayne Foster of Washington, fullback B. W. Cheeks of the North American League, defensive-back Joe Drake of Parsons College and Chick Graning, quarterback and defensive back from Georgia Tech.

MORE THAN 50

Despite the loss of at least seven players from last year's clubs, this group, the five or more players to come and the returning veterans will give Skrien about 55 players for his training camp.

Missing from last year's club are tackle Gus Kasapis, linebacker Jesse Williams, flanker Pete Kempf and guard Steve Cotter, either sold or traded, and corner-linebacker Paul Seale and utility-lineman Walt Bilicki, both retired.

Polo Club Opens This Sunday

Vancouver Island Polo Club will open its season against the Seattle-Tacoma Polo Club this Sunday.

It will mark the first time the visitors have played in this area.

Scientific Play Worry to Coach

There's a line in a song that says "education's only scientific play, boys," and such educational activities have Tommy Druce, coach of Red Lion Inn in the Island Senior "B" Lacrosse League, a bit worried.

The Red Lions play their first home game tonight against Nanaimo Seniors at 8:30 at Memorial Arena, but Druce may be without some of his best players—and he blames it all on education.

Jack May, Glen Vickers, Brian Cornell and Tommy Dheensaw are all students at the University of Victoria, and tonight's the night for some graduation celebrations—a little scientific play, you could call it.

Druce hopes they'll play lacrosse instead. But Friday night he wasn't too hopeful.

Red Lions have won one game this season and lost their other contest to Nanaimo Juniors. But on that occasion, a number of team members were working and there were only 10 Red Lions present.

No One Close to Pott

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Johnny Pott continued his torrid pace in the $57,000 Oklahoma City open golf tournament Friday by shooting a three-under-par 69 in the second round.

Pott, whose 64 Thursday set a course record at the 7,173-yard Quail Creek Golf and Country Club course, held a four-stroke lead over Tony Lema and Tom Weiskopf.

Pott had a 11-under 133 for 36 holes.

Lema, who suffered a two-stroke penalty on the 15th hole, finished with a 68 for 137. Weiskopf had a 69 for his 137.

From there it dropped to 139 for Texan Terry Dill. Holding fourth place at 140 were Don Massingale, Butch Baird and Bruce Devlin.

Investigation Starts in Drug Charge Levelled Against Canadian Coach

By JERRY GLADMAN

TORONTO (CP)—Fred Foot of Toronto, chairman of the central Ontario branch of the Amateur Athletic Union, said Friday an investigation is under way into charges that Lloyd Percival had given his track and field athletes drugs.

Foot confirmed a report that a letter had been sent by Bill Crothers, world's outstanding middle distance runner, to the secretary of the Central Ontario Track and Field Association, charging that Percival had given his athletes stimulants and sedatives and the athletes had used the drugs.

Percival, track coach at the Don Mills club, denied the charges and asked that a full investigation be carried out by an impartial body.

The case has been forwarded to Pete Beach, national track and field chairman of the AAU.

STORY PUBLISHED

The story first came to light Friday in a world copyrighted story by Telegram sports writer Al Sokol.

The letter, sent to the Central Ontario Track and Field Association March 31, says:

"I have knowledge, even proof, that Mr. Lloyd Percival is giving his athletes stimulants, notably dexedrine, and sedatives, for example tuinal, and that his athletes are accepting them and using these drugs."

Crothers also charged that the drugs have been used for a number of years, "including Canadian championships, and international competitions by members of his club, and he was the source of these drugs."

REQUESTED ACTION

Percival, who was nominated for the job of coach of the Canadian contingent to the British Empire Games in Jamaica but lost out to Paul Poce of Toronto, said he is being guided by legal counsel.

"I want to clarify my position in this and disprove these charges. This is not the first time it has come up but I definitely want it to be the last.

"What I would welcome most is a full investigation by an impartial body. I'm fed up with these accusations and innuendoes and I'm not going to be satisfied by having my wrists slapped after what my family, my athletes and their parents have been through this month."

He said that at no time during the existence of the Don Mills club "did I administer, supply or make available dexedrine or benzedrine to any athlete for the purpose of improving performances."

He said the only time deredrine was given was to the former Don Mills discus and shot put star, Nancy McCredie, and this was during non-competition days and on the prescription of a doctor.

Percival said he attended a meeting April 25 of five central Ontario directors, attended also by Crothers and Bob Meldrum, coach of the Tigerette track club and a former Percival pupil. Crothers and Meldrum were asked to amplify the charges.

The Telegram says Meldrum testified at the meeting that he had taken dexedrine and benzedrine while competing for Percival's club.

In a May 9 letter to the central Ontario executive committee, Percival said:

CLAIMS PREJUDICE

"Sworn evidence can be supplied which will, without a doubt, show the extreme prejudice, antagonism and irresponsibility of the major witnesses presented by the accuser (Crothers) and, in fact, of the accuser himself."

James Worrall, president of the Canadian Olympic Association, said his organization had known for some time "of the allegations against Mr. Percival and Bill Crothers' involvement in them."

Suspension Upheld

Bat-Swingers Warned

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Vancouver baseball player, Santiago Rosario, was suspended today from professional baseball for one full year as a result of a fight in which he struck another player with a bat.

Phil Piton, president of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, not only refused to decrease the penalty imposed on Rosario by the Pacific Coast League, but made the suspension tougher.

COULD BE MORE

He indicated Rosario, a native of Puerto Rico, might be permanently suspended if the injured player does not recover.

The league suspended Rosario for the rest of the season. Rosario appealed only to have Piton suspend him until next May 11. Piton said the incident "is bound to create a real doubt as to whether he can ever again be trusted on the field of play."

Seattle catcher Merritt Ranew suffered scalp wounds and a concussion when he was hit on the head by a bat during the brawl in Seattle May 11. He is still in a hospital and Piton said his doctor reported "he is definitely out of baseball through 1966 and possibly for all time."

Piton said Ranew's condition led him to impose the tougher suspension on Rosario.

He said his office would consider next May whether Rosario could be reinstated. He said this decision would be based on whether Ranew had recovered fully by then.

Piton coupled his action with a warning to all players "that the deliberate employment of a baseball bat ... may lead in any given case to permanent expulsion from the game." He ordered all clubs to assemble their players to notify them of his warning.

CFL May Pick Senator As Next Commissioner

TORONTO (CP) — Senator Keith Davey of Toronto says he met with the Canadian Football League's screening committee but has not been offered the job of commissioner.

Davey said he hasn't applied for the post and he wasn't sure what his reaction would be if the job is offered to him.

However, the youngest member of the Senate said if he took the job he would not leave the upper house which pays a yearly salary of $12,000 with an additional $3,000 annually for expenses.

The salary of CFL commissioner is estimated between $25,000 and $30,000 a year.

Mahoney said Thursday night that a field of 80 candidates had been narrowed to five — four from the east — and that all were interviewed here Thursday.

Sydney Halter of Winnipeg, CFL commissioner since 1957 when the Big Four and Western Interprovincial Football Union formed one league, will retire Dec. 31.

The CFL spent $20,000 advertising for a replacement, but Mahoney admitted it may be someone in the league now.

"If we don't find the man we want we could draft one of our own group," said Mahoney.

Davey said the recent purchase of a new home in Toronto had no connection with the football job, although the new commissioner's headquarters will be here.

He believes some friends in Western Canada suggested his name after reading the qualifications set out in a newspaper advertisement.

"When they got in touch with me, I decided I would investigate the situation," Senator Davey said. "After the meeting I have a clear understanding of what they feel the job is and I have a clear understanding of what I feel I can do."

Puck School To Feature Andy and Ed

For Victorians, the fourth annual Chilliwack summer hockey clinic will have a familiar look.

Anglican Church

B.C. Native Given National Post

Somerville

Rev. Canon T. David Somerville, general secretary of religious education department, has been named executive officer of program, planning and research, at national headquarters of the Anglican Church of Canada in Toronto.

The appointment, effective Sept. 1, was recently announced by the Primate of all Canada, Most Rev. Howard H. Clark, after meetings of the national executive council.

KEY FIGURE

As executive officer, Canon Somerville will be a key figure in the proposed restructuring of the various departments supervising missionary, educational, sociological, information and stewardship and financial affairs, under the authority of the Church's general synod.

B.C. NATIVE

He is a native of Ashcroft, B.C., and his ministerial career was spent in British Columbia before taking over direction of the religious education department in Toronto last October.

Canon Somerville is best known for his work as assistant and rector of St. James' Church in downtown Vancouver from 1949 to 1960. He then became dean of residence at Anglican Theological College in Vancouver, where he lectured in pastoral theology.

The St. Mathias Anglican Church choir will present an evening of music by J. S. Bach featuring the Cantata No. 6, Bide With Us, at 7:30 p.m. Sunday.

This cantata takes as its subject the scene of the disciples at Emmaus and is a meditation based on the old German chorale, Ach Bleib bei Uns.

The choir will be under the direction of organist, Eric V. Edwards, and soloists will be Kathleen Gresham, soprano; James Mainguy, tenor; Arthur Unwin, bass, and Jennifer Allen, violin. Bach's Organ Concerto No. 1 will also be rendered.

* * *

On Becoming Color Blind will be the topic discussed at 9:30 and 11 a.m. Sunday in the Unitarian Church of Victoria, Servetus Hall, 106 Superior. Special music will be included in the 11 a.m. service.

Confession of Beliefs

Revision Approved By Presbyterians

BOSTON (AP)—The governing assembly of the United Presbyterian Church U.S.A. has approved a new confession of beliefs, the church's first credal revision in three centuries.

Work on the 4,600-word declaration has been going on for eight years.

APPLAUSE BREAK

The approximately 1,500 Presbyterians then broke into prolonged applause and singing of the doxology, Praise God from whom all Blessings Flow.

The new confession now goes to the denomination's 188 area units presbyteries for ratification. Assent of at least two-thirds is needed for final authorization.

However, the action by the representative legislative assembly meeting here is regarded as decisive in the long process.

DOCTRINAL GUIDE

Since 1649, presbyterianism has used the famed Westminster Confession as its doctrinal guide.

The revision seeks to render Christian principles in more understandable contemporary style and to focus them on moral issues of modern times.

Under discussion among the 3,300,000 members of the denomination for the last year, the new confession was debated intermittently for seven days at the assembly here before the approving votes were heard when the decision came.

Roosevelt Critic

Radio Firebrand Has No Regrets

By DAN L. THRAPP
The Los Angeles Times

Coughlin

ROYAL OAK, Mich. — The Rev. Charles E. Coughlin, controversial "radio priest" of the depression years who so savagely attacked President Franklin D. Roosevelt and his international policies that he was silenced by his archbishop, is a calmer man today—but unregenerate.

"I opposed our entry into the Second World War," he said defiantly, "and events have proved me right!"

The grey, crew-cut priest, who once swayed 30,000,000 people regularly with his radio oratory, spoke quietly, reflectively, at a press conference in the rectory of his vast Shrine of the Little Flower Roman Catholic Church complex here in suburban Detroit.

ARCHBISHOP

He spoke as preparations were being made for a three-day observance of the golden jubilee of his 1916 ordination, June 7 to 9. A speaker at the banquet June 9 on this occasion will be Richard Cardinal Cushing, Archbishop of Boston.

The priest said he has been most concerned for 20 years with the running of his vast parish of 3,500 families, supervising its educational plan and doing much writing, although publishing very little of it.

His one-time firebrand magazine, Social Justice, died after he was silenced in 1940, although it lived on for a year or two under other auspices.

'PATRIARCH'

"Remember," the 74-year-old priest told the gathered newsmen, "I am now a patriarch."

He is worried today of talking politics on burning social issues but once in a while the old flame breaks through his reserve.

His parish is considered very conservative in orientation, and in the attitude of many of its members, and still at times there are rumbles of discontent that stir it. He commented on one move reportedly made several years ago to oust him from his parish.

"It was made by little pip-squeaks ordained three or four years, against a man ordained for 40 years," he flared. Then he subsided.

"I don't know any parish in the country more cohesive than this one." He reflected on this for a moment.

"I have been accused of being anti-Negro." The old fire burned again. "My God, no one in this country has done more for Negroes in this parish than I have done!"

POLITICS

In years gone by, such charges would have been among the least of those leveled against the outspoken priest, who began his radio ministry in 1926 and soon turned to politics, a field in which he found his stride.

During the 1930s he came to national attention for his fiery assaults on the Treaty of Versailles, on Russia and Communism, and on President Roosevelt for his alleged favoritism toward the Soviet Union.

Often accused of being pro-German and pro-Nazi, Father Coughlin is described in a luxuriously printed booklet commemorating his golden jubilee as regarding "Communism on the left wing and Nazism on the right wing of the same bird of prey—the vulture called Marxism."

'FRANKENSTEIN'

He insisted, said the booklet, "On the immorality of aiding either Communism or Nazism, because he clearly asserted that to aid Moscow's victory or Berlin's victory was to beget a Frankenstein which would devour us in years to come."

He was called anti-Christian, anti-semitic and anti-American.

As a result of the contraversy he aroused, he was "submerged in a sea of silence," the booklet says.

The then archbishop of Detroit, Edward Mooney, later a cardinal, first began to bear down on the priest when in 1937 Father Coughlin said no Catholic could morally join the CIO. Later, three priests were assigned to review his writings before they were published.

NO CHOICE

Father Coughlin said that when ordered to be silent on such controversial issues, he had no choice.

"A priest is a junior officer in an army," he said. "He must obey. A priest can always say to his bishop, 'I do not agree and cannot abide by your decision' and retire. Otherwise he must obey."

He said he was not free to talk about his silencing "because too many persons involved are still alive."

NO REGRETS

"But he does not regret the things he has said and the positions he has taken, although he avows now that an American's duty is to follow the president without dissent.

"My president, right or wrong," he said.

Thus he had no criticism of President Johnson, the course of the Viet Nam war or other current issues.

MILLONS READ BIBLE

Nun Ends Eight Years Of Solitude

LONDON (AP)—An Anglican nun who shut herself off from the world in a cell is today seeing other people for the first time in eight years.

The nun, whose name and age remain secret, has not even seen herself in a mirror since 1958, when her bishop gave her permission to live all her life in solitary confinement.

Only two Church of England nuns in Britain are under such vows of solitude. The other one, in her 60s, has been 30 years in her cell, also at Walsingham Abbey.

TEENS SPEND MILLIONS

A students' art show will be held in St. George's Anglican Church hall at Cadboro Bay from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. on June 4.

Entries are limited to three for each student, and the final date for entering is June 1.

Students from Grades 1 to 10 are eligible to enter the competition. A silver cup will be awarded for the best entry.

Flying Phil in Clouds As He Joins Jet Set

The minister will also be having a Beecheraft mounted with turbo-prop engines tested in about a week at Patricia Bay Airport, where his maintenance staff has been overhauling it for about a year.

Mr. Gaglardi said Friday that although he hasn't finished testing the Lear jet, "if a man's time is worth anything, then the only thing you can fly in is the fastest thing available."

The highways department has a fleet of nine aircraft at Patricia Bay. These planes are used by all departments of the government.

Teen-Ager Prefers Jail

A 14-day jail sentence appealed more to 19-year-old Barry McCowan than a $50 fine when the youth pleaded guilty in central magistrate's court Friday to causing a disturbance.

Magistrate William Ostler fined McCowan and then asked him if he wanted time to pay it. McCowan had said he was unemployed.

SHOUTING

Constable James Ramsay said McCowan was standing on the steps of his home at 413 Langford Thursday night shouting and swearing.

McCowan had been in an argument with his mother, Constable Ramsay said. McCowan later apologized for his actions.

Earl Keats was sentenced to four months in jail for stealing a radio-telephone he had hired from B.C. Telephone.

He was also ordered to pay $140 in outstanding rent.

ATTITUDE

Magistrate Ostler told him: "I have nothing but contempt for your attitude toward your wife and family."

Three days have been set aside for the preliminary hearing of an armed robbery charge.

Charged with the holdup of the Bank of Montreal, Fort and Richmond, Feb. 18 are William Braumberger and Henry Gable.

July 19, 20 and 21 have been set for the hearing.

A youth who led police a high-speed chase through city streets May 20 in a stolen car was jailed for eight months.

Brian Navratil, 2220 Arbutus, pleaded guilty last week to stealing a car and to dangerous driving.

He was sentenced to eight months in the Young Offenders' Unit with an indefinite period of four months on the theft charge and one month for dangerous driving, the sentences to be concurrent.

Edward Lumley, 1040 North Park, also received a jail sentence for stealing a truck. He pleaded guilty last week.

He was jailed six months for stealing a panel truck, two month, for driving while suspended and 10 days for careless driving. The sentences are concurrent.

Planes admitted being convicted in March, 1965, and February, 1953, for impaired driving.

Allan Gunnarsen, HMCS St. Croix, was found guilty of the theft of the cleaner and was fined $250.

Mr. Townson, 817 Dunsmuir, said Gunnarsen said he had been given the vacuum cleaner "by a woman in the house."

DRINKING

Gunnarsen said he was collecting funds for the rehabilation of some Negro children on behalf of the YMCA, court was told.

Other witnesses said Gunnarsen had been drinking and Constable John McDonald said Gunnarsen told him: "I took the vacuum cleaner. I didn't mean to steal it. I put it back."

RCMP Prosecutions

Courts Run Improperly In B.C. Says Lawyer

VANCOUVER (CP) — City lawyer J. Raymond MacLeod says many courts in British Columbia have been improperly run for years.

Mr. MacLeod said Friday he believes the courts are improperly constituted whenever an RCMP officer appears as the prosecutor, which he said happens in many cases.

FINES RETURNED

"I believe thousands of dollars in fines should be returned."

B.C. STATUTE

The lawyer said he bases his argument on a B.C. statute which says that only barristers and solicitors are allowed to practise law in the province, subject to certain exceptions, which do not apply to many magistrate's courts.

Mr. MacLeod said he wrote to the attorney - general's department, and received a reply stating the department does not agree with him on this question.

CRIMINAL CODE

The reply quoted the Criminal Code of Canda, the B.C. Summary Convictions Act and a privy council decision as authorities.

Mr. MacLeod, however, said that the authorities quoted do not apply, because of a third act, known as the B.C. Legal Professions Act, which says that, except in rare cases, only members of the Law Society of B.C. may engage in the practice of law.

He said also that witnesses would tend to be nervous when a policeman acts as a prosecutor.

Independence

Presents Flood Guyana

The aid, in the form of grants and loans, was announced by Commonwealth and foreign officials here for the two-day independence celebrations.

Canada announced a $1,500,000 grant for building a technical institute at the University of Guyana and for helping in construction of a new university.

Canada also is granting the Guyanese government $277,000 for a fish-processing plant.

Officials of the major U.S. labor organization, the AFL-CIO, announced a $2,000,000 loan for building 500 low-cost housing units through U.S. Agency for International Development.

West Germany, which sells excavation equipment in Guyana and buys much of the country, said Friday he Bonn government is planning a technical aid and scholarship program for Guyanese.

VANCOUVER (CP) — Henry Cowles, 50, of North Vancouver has died in hospital after a mercy flight from Vernon. He was injured in an accident in Lumby and was treated in hospital for internal injuries. He was flown here after his condition worsened.

School Site Report Denied by Officials

Two senior civil servants Friday denied a report that the Begg Building at Quadra and Yates is being acquired as the temporary site of a provincial vocational school.

So did Harold Elworthy, owner of the three-storey, reinforced concrete building last used as Victoria's temporary police station.

ANNOUNCEMENT

J.S. White, director of technical and vocational education, said he had no knowledge of any move into the Begg Building.

The government has announced it will build a vocational school on a site at Burnside and the Trans-Canada highway but has backed away from an earlier-announced starting date of early 1967.

Dr. Perry To Open New School

Dr. Neil Perry, B.C.'s deputy minister of education, will open Saanich School District's new Prospect Lake elementary school Tuesday.

The $60,000 four-room building at 321 Prospect Lake Road will be opened to the fanfare of the Mt. Newton junior high school band at 7 p.m.

Dr. Perry will unveil a plaque contributed by Saanich municipality. It will note that the school was built during Saanich's diamond jubilee.

The school will be open to public inspection from 7 to 9 p.m.

Serving Grades 1 to 7, it has been in use since Easter.

Pollution Pall Protested

'Fly Ash Like Snow'

By A. H. MURPHY
City Hall Reporter

People in its path realize that Victoria's years-long smoke nuisance is to be eliminated or sharply reduced within six or seven months—but if the waiting period is going to be like last week, it will be mighty tough, they say.

Businessmen and private residents agreed Friday that the pall which sweeps over the northern part of the city, dropping soot and fly ash along its path, never has been heavier.

"What are we supposed to do—live in anticipation?" asked A. G. Coning, manager of Mayfair Shopping Centre and a new appointee to the city's smoke control committee.

'LIKE SNOW'

"It has never been worse. The fly ash was in drifts almost in the shopping centre and the cars going through it would blow it up like snow."

The promised relief against the nuisance came in the middle of March when restaurateur Paul Arsens agreed to withdraw a damage action against B.C. Forest Products Ltd. on condition that the company installed $100,000 worth of smoke and ash-inhibiting equipment within nine months.

The action against the company was instituted last autumn by Mr. Arsens, who has a restaurant in the path of the smoke which has been sweeping from southwest to northeast across the city for years. It asked unstated damage and a perpetual injunction against the nuisance.

'MUCH WORSE'

"It's been much worse in the past few days," said R. D. Matthews, manager of Morrison Chevrolet Oldsmobile Ltd., 3050 Douglas.

"I don't speak for the company but I can say that we've been a pretty patient city putting up with this nuisance. It is, of course, a big cost item with us. We keep four men doing nothing else by keeping cars clean, new and used," he added.

One didn't dare leave an office window open or the fallout would filter over everything, he said.

Mrs. Ruth A. Jackson, 3028 Jutland Street, was equally angry.

"It's been a nuisance for years but the last few days have been worse than ever," she said.

"The fly ask comes in the windows and gets over everything and last week something new was added—fine sawdust. It's going to be a long six months to wait, believe me," said Mrs. Jackson.

CITY HIDDEN

Smoke and soot have been "just terrible" lately, according to Tally-Ho Travelodge manager John Blake.

"We have been willing to go along but let's hope that six months don't drag into six years as they have a habit of doing," he added.

A prominent Victorian who did not wish to be named said that he was coming back from Port Angeles last weekend and Victoria was hidden by a pall of smoke.

"It looked as though an atomic bomb had been exploded. A tourist said to me that he didn't realize until then that we had a smoke problem."

Man Found Dead In Car

Thirty-nine-year-old James William Stewart was found dead in the back seat of a car on Ontario Street Friday morning.

Municipal Leaders Hit Limit

By JOY HUNTLEY

CAMPBELL RIVER — Everywhere you turned, there was that five per cent again.

They will submit a resolution to the Union of B.C. Municipalities asking the provincial government to repeal its ruling that assessments cannot be increased more than five per cent in any one year.

Ladysmith presented the resolution, and also asked for endorsation of the method of calculating assessments at 50 per cent of market value, with no limitation on increases.

Also approved was a Saanich resolution that the B.C. Association of Assessors join in a study of the five per cent rule, with a view to making recommendations to the government, to clear up problems.

NEW PRESIDENT

The convention was attended by 50 municipal officials from 16 Island centres and Powell River.

UBCM president Reeve Alan Emmott of Burnaby told the Friday meeting, municipal officials spend too much time talking about the financial loads carried by municipalities. He said they should spend more time explaining the services they give for the money received.

Municipal Affairs Minister Campbel told the session "controversy is a valuable tool in democracy" and the department has tried to use this tool.

He said there are some areas where thinking must move forward.

WHO SHOULD RUN?

He said many people do not own their own homes, and the time may be coming when they should become participants in municipal government.

He said regional districts have gone ahead faster than expected, but the Lower Mainland "is still a blank."

Other resolutions approved by the association:

- The provincial government should adopt use of current population figures in calculating per capita municipal grants for years in which population figures are not available under the Canadian Statistics Act: Victoria.
- Provincial government should petition the federal government to include ambulance service as a sharable cost service under the national heaith scheme: Ladysmith.
- Provincial government assume a larger share of the capital costs of hospitals throughout the province until the property-owners' share is reduced to 10 per cent of the total cost: Oak Bay.
- Provinical government should repeal Section 46, Real Estate Act, and establish a scale of licence fees which municipalities may impose on real estate agents whose places of business are outside the municipality: Saanich.
- Provincial government should regulate or prohibit presence of dogs on beaches: Oak Bay.
- Driveways with a downgrade exceeding 20 per cent should be prohibited: Oak Bay.
- Beach-cleaning equipment should be purchased by the province and made available to municipalities: Oak Bay.
- The association support B.C. Hospital Association in its fight to have the federal authority increase its grant of $2,000 a bed: North Cowichan.

By BEA HAMILTON

FULFORD — Bambi's close call with flying death came to a happy end with the intervention of a maternal police dog.

* * *

The eagle circled lower and lower, his gleaming eye on the tiny mite stumbling in the bush. Had the fawn kept still, even the keen-eyed eagle would scarcely have seen him but the baby didn't know that, and he was lonely and frightened.

* * *

And behind Kari, came her mistress, Derry Barner. This was on Porlier Pass Drive about 100 yards from Miss Barner's home.

Kari saw the great bird drop from the sky into the bush and the dog investigated with enthusiasm.

* * *

There arose a fearful scuffling; Miss Barner called to Kari in alarm — the dog ran out but went back in again immediately.

At this moment the eagle arose and circled low overhead, frustrated and furious, all hopes of Bambi steak gone.

* * *

Kari brought the fawn to Derry trustingly, and expressed her desire to adopt the new baby. Miss Barner discovered the dog had a gash on her leg, evidently the mark of the angry eagle.

Things at the Barner home have become complicated.

* * *

"Kari and I feed the fawn every three hours from a bottle," said Miss Barner. Kari supervises all care of the fawn and guards it day and night. As for the fawn, he thinks Kari is his mother and is quite happy with the new arrangements.

Miss Barner contacted RCMP Cpl. F. C. Rhodes at Ganges to report the fawn, and she is going to contact the Stanley Park zoo to find out what can be done with her dainty little visitor.

Miss Barner said "last year Kari adopted a lamb!"

Ald. Mike Griffin inspects guard of Rainbow Sea Cadets

First of Series

Thousands See Sunset Rites

The flag on the legislative buildings' great pole was slowly lowered amid military circumstance in the first of a series of sunset ceremonies Friday.

The colorful and moving ceremony was performed by the Rainbow Corps of the Victoria Sea Cadets in an intricate drill watched by thousands who also attended the official welcome of Swiftsure racers in the Inner Harbor.

Leading Cadet Peter Saunders was applauded as he was given an award as best-turned out cadet. He received a bosun's pipe. The corps, with band and guard, was inspected by Ald. Mike Griffin.

The sunset ceremony was first recorded in the 16th century, although some historians believe it may have originated during the crusades when fighting stopped at sundown.

CHANGE GUARD

In early fortress villages, it marked the time for all citizens to come in from the fileds, the soldiers to leave the pubs, and the changing of the guard.

As the night guard did then, the cadets fired volleys from their rifles to prove them.

NEXT JUNE 3

Gemini Trip Posponed

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—The once-delayed orbital flight of Gemini 9 astronauts Thomas Stafford and Eugene Cernan Friday was set back again from Tuesday to Wednesday so technicians can X-ray and otherwise double-check a carbon copy of the Atlas rocket that fouled up the first launch attempt.

Strikes Disastrous

Binding Labor Rulings Suggested by Minister

OTTAWA (CP)—Labor Minister Nicholson said Friday a flood of disastrous strikes in recent weeks seriously threatens the economy.

He listed as possibly the most serious the current dispute between longshoremen in Montreal, Trois-Rivieres and Quebec City and the Shipping Federation of Canada.

Mr. Nicholson told the Commons of his planned intervention later in the day in an effort to reach a settlement of a dispute which, he said, arises from technological changes.

ARBITRATION

Of the general strike picture, Mr. Nicholson said the solution may lie in some form of arbitration courts whose decisions would be binding on labor and management.

On the whole, experience with such courts in other countries was such that adoption of a similar system in Canada merited serious consideration.

Mr. Nicholson said the Quebec ports strike must be solved as quickly as possible. Huge quantities of western grain were waiting to be shipped and Quebec farmers were suffering from shortages of essential feeds for poultry and livestock.

Technological change in ship loading made it possible to reduce the dock labor force by 10 per cent. The men couldn't be blamed for being worried about this job reduction. Nor could the shippers be blamed for wanting to make changes to keep the three St. Lawrence ports competitive.

Solutions for strikes and threatened strikes must be found "to prevent matters from getting completely out of hand," he said.

Part of the labor troubles grew from a period of unprecedented prosperity. Employment in 1965 was up by 250,000 for the first time since the outbreak of the Second World War.

SPENDING

Employment totalled more than 7,000,000 and unemployment, on the decline, was only slightly above the three-per-cent figure proposed by the economic council as a target. At the same time, purchasing power had substantially increased.

Mr. Nicholson spoke as the Commons opened examination of his department's proposed spening program for 1966-67.

Outside the House, Mr. Nicholson's department released a report saying there were 108 work stoppages in April involving 50,838 workers, compared with 90 stoppages affecting 30,079 workers in the previous month and 66 stoppages involving 11,612 workers in April, 1965.

The minister told the Commons he hopes Parliament won't have to deal with the Freedman report on railway run-throughs. He had been assured by the railways and railways and railway unions that they were working toward an agreed formula to deal with the problem.

Businesses affected by the hours-of-work provisions of the new Labor Standards Code had been urged to work out agreed systems of meeting the five-day, 40-hour week provision within a reasonable period.

Regional Idea Supported

Oak Bay Backs Districts' Pool

Oak Bay will join Victoria in supporting the application of Colwood, Langford and Metchosin to have the regional district back construction of a $220,000 swimming pool as a centennial project.

Victoria city council decided Wednesday to put its weight behind the unorganized districts who have two unsuccessful bids to have the capital region board build the 25-metre pool on 18 acres at the site of the old Colwood race track.

The unorganized districts applied to the regional board because they haven't the machinery to merge their centennial grants, which amount to $20,000, or unite to raise the other needed $200,000 by taxation.

The matter will be the first item of the agenda of the next regional board meeting to be held on June 15.

In a letter to the regional representatives of the unorganized districts, Reeve Allan Cox of Oak Bay said that he was not, as reported, the leader of a faction against the proposal. There was no faction, he said, and those who spoke against did so on their own initiative.

The statement attributed to a district representative that Oak Bay had an undisclosed motive for opposing the plan was similarly incorrect, said Reeve Cox. There was no underlying motive.

"We felt then and still feel now that the regional district in this area was not formed for this type of purpose," the reeve said.

Oak Bay had decided to back the proposal, he said, because it was realized that the districts could not hope to complete the project as a centennial effort unless regional machinery was used.

Shock Turns To Relief; He Passed

When John K. Stanlake's name failed to appear on the graduation listings in The Daily Colonist, it gave him and his family at Saanichton quite a shock. He had been confident he passed.

It turned out the confidence was well founded as the young man had won his bachelor of science degree in agriculture with a handy 76 per cent. Somehow the name was omitted from the Colonist list.

For Beacon Hill Park

Tree House Up in Air

A "spaceage tree house" proposal for Beacon Hill Park will be considered Tuesday at a meeting of city council parks committee.

Detaily of a plan submitted by Milton A. Tisdale, of Vancouver, were meagre Friday but it was believed to be a 35-foot tower topped by a four-storey series of decks. The whole would somewhat resemble the Bastion at Nanaimo, formerly a Hudson's Bay Company fortress and now a museum.

ABOUT 75 FEET

Ground floor of the structure would be the office of the Victoria Visitors Bureau and, at the 35-foot level, the provincial government trade and tourist promotion bureau would be at the 50-foot level and 10 feet above that a forestry greenhouse illustrating the story of reforestation. This also would be a camera viewing deck for tourists.

BEACON, TOO

The project was seen as a joint venture by federal, provincial and municipal governments along with forest products companies.

Victoria Mailing Tax Bills

If you haven't already got the bad news, it's on the way.

More than 10,000 tax bills were sent out from City Hall last week and there are about 6,000 to go. The 6,000 are all ready and will be mailed at the first of the week.

Tax levy in Victoria this year is about $7,500,000.

If not paid by August 1, there will be a 1 per cent penalty. Sept. 1 sees another one per cent added. Oct. 15 one per cent more and on Nov. 30 three per cent more.

Fire Costs Almost Triple

British Columbia's forest fire hazard remained generally low to moderate this week except for some areas of the south Okanagan and Ashcroft, where it is rising to high.

Fifty-six new fires occurred during the week, while 41 were extinguished and 50 were still burning when the B.C. Forest Service released its weekly fire report on Friday.

Cost of fighting fires during the current season has risen to $59,000 — compared with only $20,000 for a corresponding period in 1965.

To the reported 56 new ones, there have been 448 fires compared with 341 in B.C. at this time last year.

More fires have also been

Pipe Planned For Solids

Commercial Transport Minister Bonner says British Columbia's first pipeline for solid materials may be in operation this fall.

Mr. Bonner said in an interview that Pacific Diatomite Ltd., of Edmonton has applied to his department to build a seven-mile line near Quesnel in north-central B.C.

He could see no obstacles in the way of the application. The four-inch pipeline would transport fossilized earth used in fertilizer manufacturing from a mine near Quesnel to Barlow Station on the Pacific Great Eastern Railway line.

The pipeline could move up to 120 tons of the earth in solution a day. Fossilized earth, used to keep fertilizer from becoming lumpy is now imported from the United States.

Foster mother affectionately licks Siamese kittens

* * * * * *

Life Good After All For Premature Octet

Eight Siamese kittens, in danger of starving to death Thursday night, are rallying and on their way to recovery, their happy owner said Friday.

* * *

The kittens arrived Sunday by Caesarean birth, and their mother was unable to feed her brood. The job had fallen to their owner, Miss Irene West of 520 Tait, who was attempting to keep them alive by hand feeding.

Zoo owner Rudy Bauersachs volunteered one of his cats to act as a foster mother and half the litter was taken to his Pet Park on Durrance Road where they were adopted by the mother cat.

Miss West's cat proved capable of feeding the remaining four kittens. Both mothers and family are doing well.

The owner said she had received many telephone calls from people who offered to help when they learned of the threat to the kittens.

* * *

"There are certainly a lot of animal lovers in Victoria, and I think I would have received all kinds of help from them if they had known the trouble I was having with the kittens," she said.

Crash at Shopping Centre

Customers Gave Shout Waiter Jumped Clear

A lunch-counter waiter jumped aside just in time to avoid injury as a car slammed into the wall of the Tastee Freeze at the Burnside-Tillicum shopping centre Friday.

The car was a stock car racer being towed by another car across the shopping centre parking lot. The tow apparently broke.

CLOSE CALL

"I'd sure like to have something done about that curb," said manager J. W. Buckner. "We had a close call about two months ago."

He explained that children had released the brakes in a parked car which then rolled toward the cafe. It was stopped by a large concrete planter.

He said the stock car also sideswiped a parked car before hitting the cafe.

Tug Arrives Today From East

Arriving here today from the east coast is the tugboat Haida Brave which will be used to tow giant pulp barges between Vancouver Island and California ports.

Ordered by Kingcome Navigation Co. Ltd., the marine subsidiary of MacMillan Bloedel Ltd., the powerful tug is 126 feet long and cost $1,250,000 to build.

Fired Deputy Clerk 'Won't Betray Trust'

Glenn Fell, deputy clerk dismissed by Sidney village commission for "economy reasons," said Friday that he would be betraying a confidence if he was to make public any statement he had put before a closed session of the commission.

"There is a mutual trust between the two parties involved in an in-camera meeting and I would be betraying that trust if I released publicly any statement of the proceedings."

Mr. Fell, whose notice of dismissal expires at the end of the month, said that he has no immediate definite plans for the future.

Support Pledged By Businessmen

A group of prominent city business and professional men pledged support of a "stronger, more all-inclusive" Community Chest when they met with president Graham E. McCall.

They endorsed intentions of the Chest to encourage independent organizations to join the United Appeal.

Eviction Hearing Begun by Nun

An application by Mother Cecilia to evict Good Shepherd Shelter Foundation director Bernadine Renault from Shelter property opened in County Court here Friday.

Bernadine Renault, better known as Alexian, operated the Marion Lodge Kennels on property rented from the Good Shepherd Foundation at Mill Bay.

Rodney Taylor, appearing for Mother Cecelia, told court that when Alexian established the kennels it was agreed their profits should go to the shelter.

Alexian is former prioress of Olivet Priory near Vancouver and was made a director of the foundation last fall.

Swiftsure Starts Today

Look to Westerlies For a Close 'Classic'

If today's weather forecast holds up, the Swiftsure will be a race for the small boats in the morning, turning into a fair contest for all during the afternoon and evening.

Weather forecasts call for light westerly winds in the morning, increasing to between 10 and 20 miles in the afternoon.

CROWD

If winds are as heavy as on Thursday, look to the big ones like Diamond Head, Maruffa and Oriole to be making it a contest. In light winds, boats like Tricia and Winsome III, under 40-feet in length, will come into their own.

The annual event is drawing more interest each year, with a huge crowd gathering Friday night to see the dressed yachts in the crowded harbor.

Biggest scene-stealer of the evening was the Royal Vancouver Yacht Club sloop Pandora of Rhu which, complete with Olympic ensign flowing in the breeze, came knifing into harbor last — and hit a mud bank.

ROLL CALL

Roll call from aboard HMCS Sussexvale went without a hitch.

Victoria first-timers in the sailing classic will be in Concubine (Frank Bush) Te Pah (Don Lawson) Lollipop (Hunter Vogel).

HAIDAS

Two entries from the new Haida Class (26 feet) designed by Ray Richards and owned by Logan Mayhew and Don McCowan will vie in the Juan de Fuca race. The New Cal-25 Saga, owned by Jeremy Hewett, Cal-20s and 28s will also be involved in the competition.

Best vantage point when the record entry moves out to the line this morning will be Dallas Road from Ogden Point to Clover Point.

Boats leave early and jockey for favorable positions before the starting gun is fired from HMCS Sussexvale. Swiftsure race starts at 9:30 a.m. The smaller Juan de Fuca to Callam Bay and back starts at 9:45 a.m.

RATINGS

New this year is the system of ratings which changed AA, A, BB and B divisions to divisions one, two, three and four conforming to the Pacific International Yachting Association.

Colwood Centre Envisioned

Pool Start of Big Plan?

By NANCY BROWN

Hopes that a complete recreational complex can be built at Colwood are held by the joint centennial committees of Colwood, Langford, Glen Lake, Happy Valley and Metchosin.

Chairman Howard Drummond said Friday his committee is most thankful that the Victoria council has decided to back the bid to have a proposed $200,000 swimming pool financed through the regional services board. He hopes other municipalities will do the same (See story Page 19.)

Plans for the 18-acre site at Colwood envision the swimming pool as a starting point for a complex which eventually would include skating and curling rinks, bowling alley and theatre.

TOGETHER

Metchosin board representative Geoffrey Mitchell said it would demonstrate that something worthwhile could be achieved by working together.

"We are very hopeful that the application will meet the approval of the regional board. I hope that the urban municipalities will realize that we can offer a great deal to people living in the city by developing our countryside," he said.

"I understand that the city of Victoria is in favor of the pool," said Langford resident Fred Boulter, Friday, "for my part I can't see what all the fuss is about. It doesn't mean anything to them. They don't have to pay any money out."

Sidney's Queen Sheila, Princesses Linda and Julie

* * * * * *

Blonde from Claremont Crowned Miss Sidney

* * *

Two princesses were selected by the panel of five judges.

First princess was Linda Wilson, also 18 years old, who has completed her first year at university.

In contrast to Miss Wilson and Miss Harrison who are 5'7" and 5'5" respectively, the second princess is petite Julie Cox, who is just 5'2". She is also one year younger.

* * *

There were 10 contestants, all of whom attended a coffee party with the judges, made short—and often very excellent—speeches, and appeared onstage in evening gowns, swim suits and daytime costume.

Unsuccessful, but only by a very short margin were Denise Ovcharick, Sharon Davidson, Ina Timmer, Cheryle Du Hamel, Beverley Polson, Penny Buxton and Bonny Davidson.

* * *

Emcee for the evening was Mrs. Vivian Cowan. Intermission entertainment was provided by singers Frances Smith and Glenn Atkinson, accompanied by Pat McIvor.

Largest Meet Here Friday

The largest and most important elementary school track meet of the year will be held at Victoria High School at 6.30 p.m., Friday.

Oscillating Object Sighted by Boys

The spacemen have returned. An unidentified flying object oscillating "like no satellite" was spotted by two Victoria teenagers Friday night.

CHANGED COLOR

"It definitely wasn't a satellite and it moved about too much to be a star. It seemed to change color. I thought I was seeing things," said Larry.

"It made no noise and moved off over Mount Baker," he added.

"I didn't believe in UFO's up till now, but Holy Mackerel, now I'm not too sure," he said.

Group to Plan Best Action

Main feature of the next general meeting of the Victoria branch of the Association for Emotionally Disturbed Children at 8 p.m. Tuesday will be a round table discussion on what the association should be doing and how best it can be done.

PERSONAL MENTION

By Dorothy Wrotnowski

It's a moot point these days just what people are going out to look at in the Undersea Gardens—the fish or the girls.

Because that is the newest thing out at the popular Marina. Girl divers. Four of them. And they are getting looked at a lot.

All University of Victoria students, they came to the Gardens looking for summer jobs. There weren't any jobs left but someone had the bright idea that maybe they could act as divers.

The others, Mary Pitre, Yvonne Moreau and Effie-Jane Bailey had to start from scratch. They could swim but had only seen diving equipment in store windows.

So they were sent to the YM-YWCA pool for four lessons in basic training, correct breathing, etc.

But it was still a bit of a shock when they came to take their first dive in the Garden pool. All those fish.

The girls, in unison, don't like the octupus. And this is about the only flaw. They are not quite strong enough to get an octupus out of his hiding cave if he has made up his mind to resist.

I'd let him stay there, too, I can assure you, even though Frances Tarlton, general overseer, assures me that these creatures are really quite timid. Only accidents occur when a diver might get his mask pulled off in a struggle to bring the octupus out of his lair.

Effie-Jane was on duty at the time and she came up out of the pool announcing excitedly that there were no octupus "down there." She thought they all must have died overnight.

The other three all took a turn down and came up with the same answer. No octupus.

There were a lot of people out there on Monday. And most were a little disappointed that they didn't see an octupus.

The next morning the male divers were on the scene. They went down under and came up reporting five live octupus in their caves. Oh, well, it was holiday for the octupus, too.

Things seem to happen to Effie-Jane. The first morning she took a dive, her flipper came off. She leaned down to retrieve it and a giant skate glided overhead casting her in deep shadow. That was it for her that day.

Effie-Jane doesn't like the huge halibut, either. His mouth is far too big. And she is scared of getting fingers bitten. So she takes a little stick with her to keep Mr. Halibut away until the food has left her hands.

The girls are not at all fond of the wolf eel, either. But they do love their under-water jobs. When they aren't diving they act as guides. Their diving experience with the undersea world makes them very well-informed guides.

Toby Ate the Meringues

Toby, the Eric Charmans' great dog, part Dane and Labrador, wasn't allowed out of his run while the Y garden party was taking place last Wednesday at his home. Remember that lovely warm day—those girls must certainly have an "in" with the weather man.

Anyway, after the guests had gone, those who had worked so hard sat around for awhile, just to relax. And that "poor dog," penned up all afternoon, was let out.

They saw him just as he was finishing his 36th meringue. The three dozen that Juanita Wheaton had bought for a party the next day.

Beef at the Red Lion

While the Registered Nurses of B.C. were here for their annual meeting they treated themselves to a bang-up luncheon at Victoria's newest motor hotel, the Red Lion.

It really was a marvellous luncheon if only for those huge roasts of beef that literally did weigh down the table. I suppose they should be called barons of beef. Curious, I asked and was told they weighed 65 pounds. And that's a lot of beef.

There was a lot of talk about diet at the table where I sat. And I learned that this diet could cause kidney stones, that one, hardening of the arteries, and so on. Hardly a thing but protein, that is if you are wanting to lose weight.

Dr. M. H. Scargill was guest speaker at the lunch, and as usual, delighted his audience. His subject was the Canadian dictionary he is working on. Sounds a bit dull but is the exact opposite when Dr. Scargill makes his humorous play with words. No matter how many times you hear Dr. Scargill, you wish he would go on talking. A real test, that one.

Tea at Government House

Better Business Bureau delegates and their wives will be coming from places across the country for the convention to be held here starting on Monday.

Wives will be taken on a tour of the city on Monday morning followed by a luncheon at the Princess Mary. There will be an early evening reception at the Empress the same day.

It will be tea at Government House on Tuesday afternoon for the ladies and there will be a sherry party and banquet with their husbands that evening.

Mr. C. T. Overman, president of the Vancouver Island Bureau Branch and Mrs. Overman will be doing the honors for the visitors.

Fish or Girls?

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I are expecting our first child in about eight weeks. We've been married seven years and had almost given up hope, so of course this child means a great deal to us.

I can truthfully say I don't care if it's a boy or a girl, and at first my husband didn't care either. But these past couple of months he had been making some very unsettling remarks to friends, relatives — anyone who will listen. Last night he told my mother, "If it isn't a boy, it's for sale."

I laughed it off when he first began to say such things, but it's no longer funny. I'm beginning to think he actually has his heart set on a boy and if it's a girl he will be terribly disappointed.

We live in a small town and everyone has heard about my husband's remarks. I've had a difficult pregnancy and this isn't making it any easier. Please give me some help.—WEARY.

Dear Weary: The King of Sweden has a throne problem. What's your knuckle-head's excuse?

Expectant fathers who voice a preference for either a boy or girl baby cause their wives embarrassment and anxiety. Moreover they look like fools because, invariably, the ones who scream the loudest for boys end up so goofy about their daughters that they are positively obnoxious. Show this column to your husband and let's hope it will persuade him to keep his mouth shut.

* * *

Dear Ann Landers: Eight years ago our daughter Melanie married a young man who was notably lacking in ambition. Her father and I tried to make her understand that if she married the young man she might have to do without many of the things she took for granted.

The day before Melanie eloped she screamed at us, "I don't care if we never have a dime. All I want is HIM!" So now she has "him" (who prefers to work a night shift so he can play golf during the day) plus five children and plenty of unpaid bills.

Last night Melanie said it would be very nice if her father and I gave them $5,000 so they could get out of debt and take a trip. "We've never been anywhere since our honeymoon," she complained, which is, of course, true.

When her father failed to show much enthusiasm for Melanie's suggestion, both she and her husband became hostile. They called us "Tightwads, selfish and abnormal." — They claim that parents who can afford to help their children out with money gifts have a moral obligation to do so. "Why wait until you die?" Melanie shouted. "If you give us money now we won't have to pay inheritance taxes!"

Will you comment, please?—THE R'S.

Dear R's: Parents have moral obligations to raise their children to be independent and self-reliant. They do not owe their children gifts and continued financial support after marriage. And they don't owe them an inheritance either.

Giving can be a joy, but your children are trying to chisel money from you — and that takes it out of the gift class.

East Africa . . . . . Dr. Perry

A Look Behind the Scenes

A behind the scenes look at the "rumblings and bumblings" of the East African political and economic setup was given by Dr. G. Neil Perry to members of the University Women's Club.

Dr. Perry, deputy provincial minister of education, was guest speaker at the Club's annual dinner meeting held in Holyrood House, Wednesday evening.

"It is my conviction that a traveller returned from remote parts of the world is obliged to give a frank report of what he has seen," Dr. Perry said.

The speaker has spent much time as economic advisor in Ethiopia and the East African countries of Kenya, Uganda and Tanzania. His last stay of five months was at the request of the United Nations to help sort out the difficulties facing federation of the three East African countries.

Major trouble centred around responsibility of common services which under colonial rule had been governed by a legislative assembly of the High Commission.

With independence of the three East African countries questions arose as to who should carry out policies of taxation, currency and communications. Should they continue to be regionally controlled from Nairobi or the responsibility of the individual countries?

To deal with these problems the East African Common Services Organization, EASCO, was evolved. Although any sort of federation seemed doomed Dr. Perry assisted on a commission for East African economic co-operation which has tried to set up a common market among the countries.

Through slides the speaker emphasized the problems facing the three racial groups, African, Asian and European, in this area of the world today.

Dr. Perry was introduced by Mrs. D. R. McLeod and thanked by Mrs. S. G. Gibbins.

In her annual report, Mrs. R. A. Fraser, president, mentioned the various activities that members have undertaken. There are 16 study groups which include the arts, literature, travel international and community affairs. Several members sit in on local council meetings.

The Canadian Federal University Women's Clubs council meeting will be held in Halifax in June. Miss Margaret Lowe is the Club's federal representative. The Vancouver Club will host the Triennial meeting in August, 1967 and the Victoria Club has been asked to assist in showing the contribution of Canadian universities during 100 years of confederation. The Alberta-British Columbia Clubs will hold a regional conference in the fall. Members will take part in work shops.

The CFUW centennial project is a book of biographies of 12 notable Canadian women. The Victoria Club has contributed $234 to the book's production.

Miss Ellen Hart has convened the historic sites committee which draws to government attention buildings worthy of preservation.

A new fund has been started aiding women to further their education. It is hoped the first bursary will be given in 1968, the Club's golden jubilee year.

It was announced that Miss Edna Shepherd and Miss Gabrielle Seidel had been awarded the club's two scholarships and that a special $70 scholarship has been given to a student at the Victoria summer school of music.

In the financial report prepared by Mrs. A. W. Hobbs it was noted receipts amounted to $2,211.40 and disbursements, $1,831.48 giving a total balance of $792.41.

Major disbursements went to the CFUW fees, $747.95; donations to University building fund, $120 and the CFUW centennial project.

Balance to date in the scholarship fund is $700 and the loan fund, $1,005. Assets amount to $2,737.41.

New table of officers was announced. They are Mrs. R. A. Fraser, president; Mrs. J. W. McCammon, and Mrs. D. South, vice-presidents; Mrs. J. E. Browne, recording secretary; Miss F. Peacock, corresponding secretary; Mrs. J. R. LeHuguet, social convener; Mrs. E. A. Myles, publicity, Mrs. R. M. Adamson, treasurer; Mrs. V. Smith, study group convener; Miss Margaret Lowe, federation representative.

Mrs. A. W. Hobbs, Mrs. A. H. Cameron and Mrs. T. C. Evans are retiring from office.

Lawn Bowling Club Opened at Oak Bay

The official opening of the Oak Bay Lawn Bowling Club was held recently. Mr. W. J. Green, vice-president of the men's club, brought greetings from the Greater Victoria and B.C. Lawn Bowling Associations.

Mr. Green introduced Mrs. Daryl Elford, Oak Bay councillor and chairman of the parks committee, presented her with an honorary membership for the 1966 season. Mrs. Elford gave a short address.

Mrs. C. Hunter, ladies president, threw the first Jack. Mrs. Elford delivered the first bowl and then declared the greens open for play.

Tea was served in the clubhouse for members and friends. Mrs. I. White was tea convener, assisted by Mrs. E. Knopf, M. Carter, Mrs. Stewart, G. Atkins, Mrs. Fraser and Mrs. Mortimer.

* * *

Graduation Day

Perfect Weather At Royal Roads

A clear, sunny sky, the deep blue of the Straits of Juan de Fuca and the white-capped Olympic mountains provided a backdrop for the crimson-uniformed cadets that no artist could have improved upon.

There was sufficient breeze to keep the flags rippling but not enough to ruffle coiffures or cause women spectators to clutch their large picture hats.

Rousing military music was provided by the Naden Band and the Battalion Bugles, First Battalion, Queen's Own Rifles of Canada.

Vice-Admiral Kenneth Dyer, chief of personnel, was reviewing officer and presented the awards. In his address, Vice-Admiral Dyer told the graduating cadets, of the challenge they must face in the coming integration of the armed forces. Because Canada is pioneering this system there are no "ground rules."

He continued that with time and reason we can "hope to avoid the ultimate folly."

Among presentations was a new award, the Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia's medal, honoring the cadet who has made the greatest contribution to the reputation of Royal Roads during the year.

Marie Norie Bride Of J. D. F. Jennings

Tall standards filled with bronze tinted white gladiolus and aqua shasta daisies decorated St. Lukes Anglican Church last Saturday afternoon for the wedding of Marie Isabel Norie and James Douglas Frank Jennings.

Archdeacon C. E. F. Wolff officiated at the ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Norie, Cobble Hill and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas F. Jennings, 3904 Cedar Hill Crossroad.

Mr. H. Bergink played the traditional organ music.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in an elegant Spanish style gown featuring hand clipped Chantilly lace at the neckline and full bouffant skirt of tiers and tiers of the same lace falling into a graceful train. Her headpiece of lace flower shaped petals was outlined with seed pearls and aurora borealis and her four tiered bouffant veil was trimmed with seed pearls. A necklace of cultured pearls was a gift from the groom and she carried a cascade of gold tipped gladiolus, white rosebuds, stephantois and ivy.

Mrs. Gerry Norie was matron of honor for her sister-in-law and Miss Edith Edgson was bridesmaid.

They wore floor length gowns of amber gold peau de soie styled with fitted bodices, elbow length sleeves, full skirts and self fabric roses at the back waistlines from which fell floor length trains. They had matching circlets of tulle and satin in their hair and they carried cascades of gold tinted carnations.

* * *

Junior bridesmaids were the groom's sisters, Misses Susan and Sandra Jennings. They wore short skirted princess style dresses of crystal fabric in brilliant shades of aqua. They also had head circlets to match their dresses and carried turquoise tinted carnations.

Mr. Ted Jennings was best man for his brother and showing guests to the pews were Ian Norie, brother of the bride, Brian Snead and Bernie Maggiora.

The reception was held in the William Wallace room at Holyrood House. The table, centred with a three tiered cake was flanked by white rosebuds and freesias in silver vases and white tapers in silver sconces. The table was arranged by the bride's friend, Miss Elaine Johnston.

Mr. V. F. Norie proposed the bridal toast.

* * *

Leaving on a tour of British Columbia the new Mrs. Jennings wore a two piece model suit of blue wool, white fox fur collar and blue draped silk turban to match. Accessories were in white.

On return Mr. and Mrs. Jennings will live in Victoria.

Charter Members Pour Tea

The Queen of Peace Council, Catholic Women's League recently held its annual membership tea in the Parish Hall. Silver tapers and a bouquet in League colors were on the centre table.

Guests were welcomed by Father M. J. McNamara and the president, Mrs. M. Kokran.

Pouring tea were two charter members, Mrs. T. O'Leary and Mrs. E. White, also Mrs. P. Sainey and Mrs. W. Maeklin. The past president, Mrs. H. Y. Wakelin was presented with a white corsage and a gift of a Missal and a Rosary by Father McNamara on behalf of the league.

Tea receipts were handled by Mrs. R. Stirling and League Magazine subscriptions by Mrs. A. Smith. Mrs. H. J. Bruch added a colorful touch by attending in an authentic pink and black Centennial costume. Social convener, Mrs. J. Pryke and her committee organized refreshments.

Visitors In London

Many residents of the province have recently signed the register at British Columbia House, London. Among them are the following from Victoria: Miss Hazel Sargent, Mrs. E. T. Kenney, Mr. Roger W. Sparks, Mrs. A. Marjorie Littler, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Murdoch, Mrs. Sheila Hagar, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Chapman, Dr. Jack Stenstrom, Miss Gladys Downes, Mrs. J. B. Murray, also Mr. and Mrs. William Storum, Union Bay; Mr. G. D. Seymore, Royston; Mrs. H. L. Bevan, Sidney and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Ross, Nanaimo.

Honolulu — What you MUST see in Honolulu:

Polynesian Cultural Centre: Fifty villages, built by the people themselves — Maoris, Fijians, Samoans, Tahitians, Hawaiians — all grouped around a lagoon with islands. A native dinner and a two-hour show of real native dancing. This is a not-for-profit enterprise. The Mormon Church handles it. The dinner is $2.60. The show is $4.20. Admission only, $2.

* * *

Sea Life Park. You walk down below to see tropical fish around a reef. And, of course, the smarter-than-people porpoises. With transportation from your Waikiki hotel and back, $2. (The Hawaiian bus driver sings, comments and tells jokes I heard here 15 years ago. But for $2 you can't get all that and Bob Hope, too.)

* * *

Hawaiian Wax Museum. Next to the International Market Place in Waikiki, 75 cents. Lifelike scenes of Hawaiian kings. Captain Cook discovers the islands etc. Not as extensive as Mme. Tussaud's in London. But I'm kind of a nut on wax museums. (This one has no Chamber of Horrors.)

"Mauna Kea Is Fine If You Like Swimming, Golfing."

"Anything you can tell us about Mauna Kea Beach hotel?"

It cost $10,000 per room to build it — that gives you an idea. It's the latest in Laurance Rockefeller's string of luxury resort hotels ($45 a day for two with breakfast and dinner). It's on a rather dry part of the Big Island. Cooler without humidity. Beautiful bay. Seaside golf course laid out by Robert Trent Jones. A superb hotel. But you've got to like golf and swimming. That's all there is to do.

* * *

"Are there hotels with cooking facilities in Hawaii? How much, roughly, would they cost?"

Seem to be quite a number of smallish hotels with kitchenettes. (Which is certainly a way to keep costs down. I don't like to go out for breakfast either.) Hawaii Visitors Bureau, Honolulu, Hawaii, sends you a list of all hotels, all islands. Lists special features such as kitchenettes, swimming pools etc.

The HVB lists the prices. I don't have them offhand. But Foster Tower Hotel, overlooking the beach and Diamond Head, starts at $18 a day for a well-furnished studio apartment for two with kitchenette. Has a swimming pool and Waikiki beach across the street.

* * *

"I was in Hawaii three years ago and am curious to know what the latest music is . . . are they recorded?"

Anything with Don Ho or Kui Lee. Lahainaluna is very big on disc jockey programs. So is The Hasegawa General Store by Web Edwards of the Hawaii Calls radio-TV show. All on records, yes.

* * *

"We are teen-age girls. Our grandmother sent us a book, How to Do the Hula. What music should we get for this?"

At the free hula lessons in the hotels here, they play one song particularly — We're Going to a Hukilau. The hukilau is a net-fishing party. So you get hand motions of water, fish swimming and so one. There's a 45-speed recording.

* * *

"I cannot stand much heat and we are considering Hawaii . . . "

Honolulu temperatures run an average 72 through January, February, March. Climb to 78 in July, August, September. The highest ever recorded by the Weather Bureau was one day at 88. The sea stays almost constantly at 70 degrees.

Terror Cuts Costs

MATSUSHIRO, Japan (AP) — A hotel owner in this quake-plagued town in central Japan has hit on an idea to boost slumping business and attract guests who are usually frightened away.

* * *

His advertisement read: "Hotel guests will be served free a bottle of beer whenever the hotel is rocked by an earthquake recording three on a scale of seven."

Service prices are scaled according to the intensity of the tremor.

* * *

If the quake registers four, strong enough to topple chimneys there is a 50-per-cent discount on hotel charges. If there is an intensity of five, strong enough to knock a man down, guests may leave without paying anything.

Matsushiro has been rocked by more than 30,000 tremors since last August.

Drinks in the Air Ground-Controlled

WINNIPEG (CP) — Air Canada and Canadian Pacific Airlines are applying to the Manitoba Liquor Control Commission for permission to serve liquor with meals on flights passing over the province.

Legal notices of application are to appear shortly. These will be followed by commission hearings but no dates have been set.

So far there are no plans to serve liquor at times other than meals. This would require a cocktail room licence as well as a dining room liquor licence.

The Liquor Control Act was amended at the last session of the legislature to extend the liquor commission's licensing authority to aircraft as well as trains.

Stockholm Attraction Revived

'Lost' Theatre Reopens

By SCOTT AIKEN
Copley News Service

Located at Drottningholm Palace just a few miles from the centre of the Swedish capital, it was a European centre for opera and theatre in the late 18th century.

The actors, singers and musicians all vanished almost overnight, however, leaving the theatre to slumber ignored, then forgotten and practically untouched for more than a century.

* * *

When it was discovered by a young scholar (who was looking for a painting) in 1921, more than 30 nearly complete stage sets from the 18th century as well as stage machinery — including wooden waves that roll convincingly and a thunder machine — were waiting in the wings.

In the restoration which followed, the only touch of the 20th century permitted was electric lights. The building is wood and tinder-dry. Lighting it with candles was out of the question.

* * *

Except for that the theatre is today as it was when Queen Louisa Ulrika opened it in 1766 and when her son, King Gustav III, was composing operas for its company and at times appearing on stage himself in roles that took his fancy.

King Gustav was assassinated in 1792 at Stockholm's Royal Opera House (an event that provided the plot for Verdi's Masked Ball) and the Drottningholm Theatre was closed down shortly thereafter.

* * *

The only works performed there now are 18th century ones with operas by Gluck, Mozart, Handel and Haydn as the star attractions.

A gala season is planned for the celebration of its second centennial this summer.

The theatre opened May 2 (it is closed from October to May because it is unheated) with London's Covent Garden Opera presenting Handel's Acis and Galatea. This was the second opera performed when the theatre was spanking new.

* * *

The centennial commemoration itself is set for June 2. The Stockholm Royal Opera will present Haydn's La Canterina, which was written the year the theatre first opened.

There will be several performances a week throughout the summer.

Group tours are run by a Stockholm travel agency with bus service. It is also possible to take a boat from the quay at the Grand Hotel directly to Drottningholm, which stands on the edge of Stockholm's Lake Maeler. The boat returns after the performance.

It is best to order tickets in advance because the theatre is popular both with Stockholmers and with tourists.

Winning Contract

By HOWARD SCHENKEN and RICHARD L. FREY

You can often place an opponent with a key card by the way he had bid. In this hand, North marked West with a vital king because someone else made a bid. But sometimes, even with the opponents' cards virtually exposed, it isn't easy to find the winning play.

Vul: N-S

	♡ A 5
	◇ 10 8 7 5
	♣ A K J
WEST		EAST (D)
♠ K 8 7 4 3		♠ 9 6 5
♡ 9 3		♡ K Q J 10 6 4
◇ Q 6		◇ J 9 3 2
♣ 10 9 7 2		♣ - -
	SOUTH
	♠ J
	♡ 8 7 2
	◇ A K 4
	♣ Q 8 6 5 4 3

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
3 ♡	Pass	Pass	Dbl.
Pass	5 ♣	Pass	6 ♣
All Pass

Opening lead: Heart nine

After North's takeout double, South rightly decided his hand was too powerful to bid only four clubs, so he showed his full strength by jumping to five. North had a tough problem whether to go to slam, but he was helped by East's preemptive opening. Modern players seldom hold much strength outside their long suit when they open a non-vulnerable three bid, so North felt pretty certain the spade king must be in West's hand if not in South's, and this could beef up slam chances.

Declarer won the heart opening and promptly discovered the 4-0 trump break, which meant he could not afford to ruff a heart in dummy. But—as North had foreseen—knowing that West probably had the spade king helped South find the right play.

After pulling only one round of trumps, declarer came to his hand with a diamond and led the spade jack. West correctly refused to cover and declarer played low in dummy, then led a trump to the board. South cashed the spade ace and led the spade queen, letting West win, while declarer ditched his last heart loser. Dummy still had a high trump as an entry to the spade ten, which provided a discard for declarer's losing diamond.

Lovely Old Trees and a Lovely Old Garden, (admittedly needing attention.)

Standing in the garden, one can almost hear the "Clippity Clop" of a well matched and groomed team of Buggy horses, the pride of the early Victorian family, who chose this lovely site, and built this family home. The Charm and loveliness is still there, our ancestors, and the gentle team belong to the ages . . .
This home, in our estimation, is structurally sound. It certainly needs decorating, as most older properties do. The location is absolutely one of the finest in our city, and the surrounding properties are the pride of our tourist bureau, as they depict the Beautiful Victoria of which we "old timers" are so justly proud.
One could feel quite secure in doing the renovations and decorating, if it were felt necessary, and still be secure in the investment.
The rooms are all spacious, living room, dining room and drawing room, all "in line" providing a marvellous entertaining area. Two bathrooms, one up and one down, large den, FIVE BEDROOMS or so, a most impressive entrance hall, two staircases, and sundry cubby holes for skylarking children. Kitchen is Country style. Furnace room with hot water heating, wiring appears to be adequate.
Outside impression is definitely English Tudor. The stucco needs painting, and the HAND HEWN BEAMS are in utter misery . . . bathed in C.P.R. hued, maroony red . . . sacrilegious . . . a pity.
This home is going to be sold, and the purchaser will be a very lucky individual indeed. The owner is a very reasonable man, and we will consider a variety of propositions.
NOW . . . I must ask you not to disturb the owner this weekend if you drive by, and also ask you not to enter the property. (There is a driveway both on Rockland and Terrace Ave.) You will not be able to contact me until after 6 p.m. on Sunday evening. You could try Sat. evening later on. The owner will be most annoyed if you ignore this reasonable request, and I'm afraid that I will be too . . . so be patient and call me to view the interior, and get further details. ASKING PRICE IS $27,950.00
All propositions will be given courteous consideration.

Superstition Doomed Third Wife

Popular tradition frowns on third marriages as unlucky. So Ali "wed" the doll to make it technically his third wife and buried it in a graveyard to dispel the ill omen.

Russians Close To Coast

ASTORIA, Ore. (AP — An Astoria fisherman said Thursday he had come upon a Russian fishing fleet suddenly at night just three miles off the Columbia River mouth, had turned on his searchlight, and seen them fishing for salmon with gillnets.
The fisherman, Don Nichols, owner of the trawler Linda Don, said that at about midnight Wednesday his radar started showing a number of blips. He switched on a floodlight that disclosed three Russian boats. He said he saw the nets in the water and also saw them pulling nets in and taking fish from them.
Mr. Nichols said the Russians were running without lights.

Ships Collide In Foggy Sea

YOKOHAMA, Japan (UPI)—A Japanese freighter and a U.S. military supply ship scraped sides in fog off Miura Peninsula, south of Tokyo. Both ships, the 988-ton Seiwa Maru and the 15,000-ton Mars, were undamaged and proceeded on their courses.

Brazil Mountain Climb To Promote Centennial

By FRASER KELLY
Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — Two young Canadians are going to chop their way through dense, unexplored South American jungle and climb a 3,000-foot vertical rock face in Brazil as their centennial project.

The CBC technicians have already spent $2,000 of their own money preparing for the expedition which will also include two archaeologists, a geographer, a doctor and two motion picture photographers.

They plan to take five months penetrating a region which has already repelled three other expeditions. On July 1, they hope to plant a Canadian flag on top of the Pacaas Novos plateau in Brazil.

Their purpose is three-fold: promote the centennial in South America; promote South American archaeology in Canada; carry out scientific study of an unexplored region of the world.

They plan to produce a 90-minute color film documentary of their 4,000-mile journey for use in schools, museums and other organizations around the world.

NO PAY

They will also produce a two-hour film documentary of about 20 archaeological sites in Bolivia and Peru. This will be donated to the Canadian Film Institute.

Everyone involved in the expedition will work without pay as a contribution to the centennial. The project has the blessing of top Canadian and Brazilian authorities.

It is expected to cost about $75,000, much of which the two men hope can be raised through the Centennial Commission, which has also approved their plan.

STUDIES MADE

The two men have already spent 30 months completing detailed feasibility studies. For the past two years, they have taken instruction in mountain climbing.

They have arranged press conferences and other projects in major South American centres to draw attention to the Canadian centennial as they make their way to the plateau.

They plan to dedicate their project to Lt.-Col. Percy Fawcett, a British explorer who disappeared in the region with his son in 1927.

Sir Arthur Conan Doyle wrote a book about the plateau they hope to reach. It was called the Last World.

Shirking?

LaMarsh Raps Business

By FRASER KELLY
Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — State Secretary Judy LaMarsh whacked big business on the backside here Thursday night and told it to get moving on centennial projects.

She was the second speaker of the day who accused nation's businesses of shirking their responsibilities of contributing to Canada's 100th birthday party in 1967.

NOT IN KEEPING

Miss LaMarsh said she hoped the private sector of the economy is planning many projects which have not come to the attention of the council — the one body organized to co-ordinate such programs.

"I have noted that may of our largest firms which have been part of the Canadian community for many decades, and which certainly have prospered by being part of that community, either have given no indication of making any centennial contribution or are making one which hardly seems in keeping with their financial position," she said.

She pointed out that several companies have received sizable contracts from the centennial commission itself or some other level of government involved in centennial projects.

BENEFICIARIES

"I wonder if these firms are preparing to make a contribution of their own to the festivities," she asked. The celebrations in 1967 will, she said, pump $3,000,000,000 into the economy.

"Is it unfair to ask that the private sector which certainly will be the main beneficiary of this added economic stimulus, show some response by making a contribution of its own to the celebrations?" her speech said.

Young Grits Angry

VANCOUVER (CP) — Young Liberals in British Columbia have threatened to withdraw from the national body unless control by Ontario and Quebec delegates is broken.

An open letter to the Young Liberia Federation of Canada, signed by the executive of the B.C. body and appearing in the provincial association's magazine, said changes must be made quickly.

"The deliberations of the convention in Ottawa this year itself indicated clearly that Ontario—more so than Quebec this time—was out to dominate by sheer force of numbers," the letter said.

NEW OFFICERS

"The election of new officers confirmed that the federation is mere putty in the hands of Young Liberals from Ontario and Quebec." Two officers are chosen from Quebec and two from Ontario while the other two positions are shared by other areas, the letter explained.

The fact that conventions are usually held in Ontario or Quebec instead of in the Maritimes or the West mean larger Ontario and Quebec delegations and smaller delegations from the Maritimes and the West, it added.

CHOKES OUT WEEDS!
It's murder . . . what Uplands Special does to the weeds in your lawn. Surrounds them with thick, strong, close-textured turf. Chokes them out before they can get a start. Keeps them at bay all summer long.
But weed-control is only one advantage. With Uplands Special you give your lawn over 40% organic plant foods, and extra quantities of vital, life-giving nitrogen for quick, responsive growth. With Uplands Special your lawn will stand up longer to hard wear or summer's searing heat.
This year, don't just give your garden a "shot in the arm". Feed it long-lasting Uplands Special.

Garden Notes

Sowing Never Over

By M. V. CHESNUT

As June approaches, there is something of a tendency among inexperienced gardeners to feel that all the planting and sowing is done for the year, and there is nothing more to be done now except to keep the grass cut and the garden weeded and cultivated. This is a mistake.

There is ALWAYS something to be sown or planted, and in our family, I don't think a single month of the year goes by when seeds or bulbs of one kind or another are not started.

* * *

Take gladiolus, for instance. Several years ago I found a garden shop in town with a substantial number of bulbs still unsold, and the proprietor was cutting his losses by offering them considerably less than half price. Although this was well into June, the bulbs were in excellent condition, firm and hard and not too badly sprouted, and as the varieties were the expensive kinds I couldn't afford at the regular prices, I took a chance and bought them.

Planted late into warm soil, those bulbs forged ahead, making growth at a far more rapid pace than the early plantings, and at the end of the season there wasn't a great deal of difference in the flowering time. The bulbs from this planting are among my most treasured possessions today.

In the vegetable plot, we are bunging seeds in the ground all summer long, for with a lot of the fast-growing kinds, the only way to avoid gluts and to maintain an uninterrupted supply of tender YOUNG vegetables to the table is to keep on making small succession sowings. This is true particularly of radishes, leaf lettuce, green onions from multiplier onion sets and those white table turnips, delicious when pulled at golf-ball size.

Believe it or not, I have had ripe tomatoes from seeds sown directly in the open ground as late as June. Here again, the warm soil and congenial growing conditions bring the plants along at a surprising rate, and these open-sown tomatoes have one big advantage over the set-out plants; they are never transplanted. They live their whole life, from seed germination until harvest, in the same ground, without any root disturbance at all; I have often wondered how much precious growing time is lost every time we transplant a tomato while the plant recovers from the inevitable injury to its roots.

The trick with all these late-sown open-ground seeds is to pull them up out of the ground in a hurryy by covering each seed with a jam jar until the seedling shows, then to thin them ruthlessly until each plant has ample elbow room in which to develop.

* * *

This technique is especially rewarding with green peppers. There seems to be a feeling that these plants are sub-tropical and therefore difficult to grow in our climate, but if started late under warm conditions, I have found peppers, on the whole, somewhat easier to grow than tomatoes.

For one thing, you don't have to wait for them to grow to maturity. Tomatoes aren't much good until they turn red, but even baby green peppers can be picked to impart their delicious flavor to salads, stews, hash and spaghetti. Incidentally, if you are lucky enough to own a home freezer, green peppers can be picked and thrown into the freezer without any preparation of any kind.

ERMA BOMBECK Gets Shopping Aide

Ten Cents Off WHAT!

Color me the most naive homemaker in North America.

When a mouthwash promised me a shipboard romance, I bought it and got my steamer trunk out of the attic. When Brand X coffee threatened my marriage, I didn't push my luck. I switched brands. And when someone told me there was a giant in my washer, I got out two glasses.

* * *

Now it seems I can no longer trust what I read on labels and box-tops. According to a current consumer investigation on fair packaging and labelling, I am spending 11 cents more on every $1 than I should.

I am being anesthetized by words like "Giant, Economy, Larger, Family" and "10 cents off!" (I should curl my lip and say, "10 cents off of WHAT!")

In short, the housewife has

* * *

never had such a challenge in shopping since the days of the butcher's lead thumb.

* * *

With me, the problem is twofold. I'm distracted and I'm a "Fraction Dropout." First, the distraction. In the car, I have a dog who will chew up the upholstery when he gets bored. In my cart, I have one child ripping open cereal boxes to get at the plastic bonuses first.

I have another child grinding small babies and little old ladies under the wheels of the shopping cart. I have a daughter who is tucking bath powder, curler bonnet and movie magazines between the edibles so I won't notice them until we check out.

I have a husband who is waiting to be picked up in exactly 45 minutes. Roughly, that will entail one decision from me on purchases every five to 10 seconds.

* * *

Now for the mathematics. I am cautioned to pick up a jar of jelly and examine the label. If a small jar (10 oz.) is 27 cents, and the larger jar (1 lb. 1 oz.) is 49 cents, my eyeballs are supposed to flash TILT, bells ring, guns blast, and the store manager vaults over the shelves while I complain, "If this is priced at the same rate per ounce as the smaller size, you are charging three cents more for the larger size."

As yet, no one has offered to solve my distraction problem, but obviously, news of my mathematical genius has reached the ears of an inventor in Oelwein, Iowa.

* * *

Last week, he sent me a small plastic dual dial called the "Bargain Finder." I read the instructions, flipped the dial, and tested myself on a few purchases of soap powder and peanut butter. It worked. In a flash, I could tell if the larger item was a bargain or not.

I tried still another problem. Mr. Maillie, the inventor, said the dial is sold by mail order and cost $1 each or 4 for $3. Now, you set the dial for $1 and look to the four which indicated $4. You see? That's a saving of $1 and you don't even have to remove your shoes.

Tennis Anyone?

SYDNEY HARRIS

I was glancing through a periodical recently, when an ad for women's tennis fashions caught my eye — as well it might. Two lithe and elegant models were wearing the kind of abbreviated tennis costumes that would turn any mixed doubles into a sexual shambles.

Quite apart, however, from the delightful absurdity of engaging in an athletic contest wearing those slit-sided tunics with lace at the front, it occurred to me that there is a kind of "reverse snobbery" in most physical pursuits that the lay public (including advertisers) is not aware of.

* * *

Generally speaking, the fancier and more elaborate the costume, the less likely is the wearer to be proficient in that activity—and the more likely is he or she to be derided and laughed at by the experts. Fine feathers make fine birds at cocktail parties, perhaps, but not in the field, on the ship, on the court, or atop the horse.

The opposite, indeed, is closer to the truth. At the riding stable, the man or woman with impeccable breeches and burnished boots and all the expensive accoutrements is usually a beginner or an affected ass who is more concerned with appearance than with the finer points of equitation.

* * *

This reverse snobbery is even more manifest on shipboard. The first thing most amateurs do when they buy a boat of any consequence is to outfit themselves like the captain of the Queen Mary, braided hat at all—which only provokes mirthful hoots from the salty characters who win their races in torn jeans smeared sweat-shirt and shoes with holes in the sides.

And experienced hunters can always detect the tyro — who usually carries twice as much as he needs, and, the more he tries to resemble a fictional version of a huntsman, the more he labels himself a duffer.

* * *

Every endeavor has its own kind of built-in snobbery, and reverse snobbery is simply a more subtle form of one-upmanship toward those who mistakenly believe that "looking the part" gives them membership into the elect at the stable, in the field, or on the dock.

Young people, who are shrewder than their elders, recognize this by taking their first pair of riding boots and rolling them into the mud until they look soiled and used in the appropriately expert way.

Those cloque sweater dresses with the peek-a-boo front and slit sides look just great in the ad, but any female who pranced out on the court in such a costume would be holding the racquet by the wrong end.

SHEILAH GRAHAM Says:

Bible Leads Oscar Scramble

HOLLYWOOD (NANA)—It's a bit early to be making Oscar predictions for next April but right now I can tell you that The Bible and Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf? will be fighting it out for the gold statcuette. With the edge, from all I hear, going to The Bible.

And don't be surprised if Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton are nominated for Virginia Woolf. If they are, and if they win, it will be the first time for a married couple to walk off with top Oscar honors. I hear good things of Hawaii, which will also be released this year. Of course, it is early and we don't see some of the best films until October, November and December. But as far as the best picture of the year, The Bible is the one to beat.

* * *

I'm told that Warren Beatty came on like gang busters when he saw Kim Novak at the Ray Stark party recently. But Kim wasn't having any. Now that she is divorcing Richard Johnson, it could be a long time before she considers marriage again (and certainly not with Beatty). The only man Kim has ever wanted to wed, and to remain married with, is the late Prince Aly Khan. And one other, whose name I would rather not mention, seeing that he is so happily married now.

* * *

Julie Andrews deliberately priced herself out of Jack Warner's Camelot by asking for 10 per cent of the gross in addition to her $1,000,000 salary. She might have made up to $4,000,000 on such a deal; I doubt whether she is receiving as much from her current picture, Thoroughly Modern Millie. I have a hunch she has not quite forgiven Warner the disappointment she suffered when he gave My Fair Lady to Audrey Hepburn.

* * *

Bea Lillie is calling her doggy book for Doubleday, Take a Poke. Rolf Gerard is doing the illustrations. As for Bea's autobiography, for which she has made copious notes, "I have 24 titles," she tells me. The publishers are so sure the book will be a success, they are giving Miss Lillie an advance of $100,000—$30,000 on signing the contract, which she has already received, $30,000 on delivery of the manuscript, and the rest on publication. It takes an agent as good as Roz Cole to make such a deal.

* * *

Joe E. Brown, at 74, is still going strong. He has just signed a deal to promote, on television, whistles, bugles, and daisys, a new line of snacks. For one year. You can make about $50,000 on such a deal. Art Linkletter introduced recording star Brenda Lee on his television show 10 years ago. Brenda, now at the Coconut Grove, has repaid the debt by introducing her own proteges, the Fuller Brothers, on Art's Talent Scouts program. Brenda has a movie to make for Universal, Me and the Medicine Man, with Don Knotts.

* * *

James Farentino's fine performance as Hap in the TV version of Death of a Salesman, has put him up front for one of the killers in Truman Capote's story, In Cold Blood, which Columbia is filming. Jim's new wife, Michele Lee, now repeating on film her Broadway role with Robert Morse in How To Succeed in Business, Etc., is succeeding very well, with a five-film contract with the Mirisch Brothers.

Strike Called

Van Doos Will Police Quebec

OTTAWA (CP) — Three companies of the Royal 22nd Regiment—some 450 men—and four RCAF Hercules transport planes Friday stood by near Quebec City for police duties after the Quebec Provincial Police decided to strike next Thursday.

MAJORITY

Robert Burns, legal adviser to the QPP Association, said exact figures for the voting were not immediately available but said the motion to strike had been carried by a "strong majority of those present."

The transport planes would be used to deploy the troops to key points in the province, and informants said more members of the "Van Doos" could be called up for police duty if necessary.

NEAR QUEBEC CITY

The troops are at Camp Valcartier, near Quebec City, and the planes at the Quebec City airport.

Officially, the defence department merely said the three companies of troops were on mobile command manoeuvres.

Informants said there have been negotiations between Ottawa and Quebec most of this week concerning possible use of the army as police.

Man Stabs Himself

Girl Held at Knife-Point

VANCOUVER (CP)—A little girl was held with a knife point at her stomach for two hours Friday.

Thirty heavily-armed policemen kept their distance.

The man who was clutching the little girl screamed at 2,000 horrified onlookers as he grasped his whimpering captive about the neck and held his knife at her stomach.

* * *

Shortly after the dinner hour an elderly man and his young son were stabbed and seriously wounded in the city's west end.

A man clutching a knife fled from the scene and scooped the seven-year-old girl into his arms as he ran through the yard of the house next door. The child's mother became hysterical, attracting the attention of other neighbors.

* * *

The man, believed to be a European, stopped 20 feet from a busy intersection and backed into a wall. He squatted down.

With one arm around the girl's neck he held a knife with an eight-inch blade pressed against her stomach.

Police arrived, but were forced to keep their distance when the man threatened to stab the girl.

* * *

Police cordoned off the area and allowed only reporters and television cameramen within shouting distance of the man.

SIX JETS CRASH IN SPAIN

SEVILLE, Spain (UPI)—Six French Mystere IV supersonic jets ran out of fuel and crashed near here Friday while on a navigation training flight from France to Seville. All six pilots parachuted to safety, airport sources here said.

The sources said the pilots exchanged agonizing messages by radio as, one by one, their engines cut out and their fuel gauges dropped to zero.

A curtain of secrecy immediately was dropped over the crashes, but in Paris the defence ministry announced that the planes were from the Cazaux base near Bordeaux.

They could not land at Seville "apparently because of meteorological conditions, and subsequently crashed because of lack of fuel," the ministry's communique said.

NO VICTIMS

"The pilots used their ejection seats and to our knowledge there were no victims among the pilots or the civilian population," the communique added, "There was no material damage on the ground. An inquiry is in progress."

Five of the pilots were reported here to have been taken to the Spanish-American naval base at Cadiz. The sixth pilot was said to be in Huelva.

An airport spokesman confirmed that the planes were due at Seville's civilian airport of San Pablo for refuelling. He re-

Concord Engine Whacked

BRISTOL, England (UPI) —An unknown saboteur damaged part of the engine being developed here for the Anglo-French supersonic Concord jet airliner project, the Bristol Siddeley Co. announced Friday night.

It said the damage would not affect development of the engine as a whole.

A spokesman for the company said someone had taken a hammer and damaged a shaft for an Olympus 593B engine Thursday night.

Beside the hammer was a note which read, "This is the mallet which did the job. I wish I could be here to see the fun."

Anti-Inflation Squeeze Stays, But . . .

By JACK FRY
Legislative Reporter

Public Works Minister William Chant Friday eased the government's new health priority program into operation by announcing that work will continue on three provincial health facilities in British Columbia.

But he reiterated that the government's anti-inflation measures are still in effect, and denied a report in another newspaper that the "big squeeze" has been loosened on all major government projects.

* * *

The new developments are in keeping with recent policy statements by Premier Bennett that although the public works department has been instructed to delay any project in which the bids are out of line, a number one priority will be given to health and mental health facilities.

Mr. Chant Friday opened tenders which had been called for excavation of a site for a new mental hospital, on the eastern side of Royal Jubilee Hospital.

Lowest bid was $20,464 submitted by Dillabough and Luney of Victoria. Other bids were Wakeman and Trimble Construction Ltd., Victoria, $24,333; Oliver Equipment Service and Supply Ltd., Victoria, $26,480; Chr Excavating Ltd., Victoria, $26,850 and C. J. Oliver Ltd. of Vancouver, $29,500.

* * *

A contract will probably be awarded within a week, said the minister.

Other health projects on the priority list include the multi-million dollar Glendale retarded children's complex about a mile north of the Wilkinson Road jail and an expansion of the Burnaby mental health clinic which will be renamed the Burnaby residential care centre.

Programming has been started on the Glendale project, but plans have yet to be drawn. Mr. Chant said it is possible construction can be started before the end of the year.

Excavation work at Burnaby is expected to be done in July and work on this project will be phased out on a continuous basis from then on.

The government's public works slowdown was brought about by a "tremendous upsurge of costs," said Mr. Chant.

"But some of the buildings we simply must proceed with because of the public need."

The new provincial museum was one of the projects where work came to a near standstill, while plans were being redrawn to cut down expenses.

Tenders for the revised version will probably be called about a month from now, although the tall curatorial building "may have to come later," the minister said.

* * *

Plans were also scaled down for landscaping of the Centennial Fountain in Vancouver and work on this will probably resume next week.

Many other projects including the Duncan courthouse, will simply have to simmer for awhile on a back burner until the health and mental health buildings are completed.

Goodwill Crushes 'Crush'

KUALA LUMPUR (AP) — Deputy Prime Minister Tun Abdul Razak of Malaysia said Friday Indonesia's undeclared war against his country has "unofficially ended."

This is proved, he said, by the unprecedented visit of an Indonesian goodwill mission made up of military men, most of them connected with the "crush Malaysia" command, which directed the confrontation begun three years ago.

The eight - man mission brought word from Indonesian strongman Lt. - Gen. Suharto that the military authorities in power in Jakarta sincerely want to end the feud with Malaysia, Razak said.

* * *

The deputy premier told a press conference the visit did much to remove any doubts Malaysia may have had about peace talks in Bangkok, Thailand, between Razak and Indonesian Foreign Minister Adam Malik, scheduled to begin Monday.

Razak said he is confident the talks will succeed and added half-jokingly that now there is "nothing very much to be discussed."

* * *

The Indonesian military delegation arrived Friday morning aboard an Indonesian Air Force transport that had been given special clearance by the Malaysians in secret arrangements said to have been conducted on a rush basis in Bangkok.

The officers, led by Rear Admiral O. B. Sjaaf, spent seven hours here in the northern Malaysian town of Alor Star, in discussions with Malaysian leaders.

50 Years Since History's Longest, Bloodiest Battle

500,000 Flocking to Verdun

VERDUN, France (UPI) — More than 500,000 persons will join President de Gaulle today in commemorating the 50th anniversary of the Battle of Verdun, France's greatest military victory and the longest and bloodiest battle in the history of war.

* * *

It was in the Battle of Verdun, lasting more than 500 days in 1916 and 1917, that the French held and finally flung back the invading Germans in the First World War.

More than 400,000 Frenchmen and more than 300,000 Germans died in the holocaust.

* * *

Today and Sunday morning de Gaulle will lead the nation in all-French Commemorations of what Frenchmen remember with pride as an all-French victory. The ceremonies will be climaxed by a broadcast speech to the nation by de Gaulle at noon Sunday.

* * *

Verdun, a small eastern French city of 30,000, already was jammed with pilgrims arriving by rail and road. French tricolor flags draped every public building. Every other shop window featured a photograph of First World War French soldiers.

More than 5,000 police and thousands of French army troops were mobilized to control the vast crowds. Highways in a radius of 35 miles from the city were strictly guarded. Police helicopters roared overhead continuously.

* * *

Verdun is still a French army garrison town and all army barracks in the vicinity were vacated to provide sleeping room for the vast influx of pilgrims — including an estimated 40,000 First World War veterans, now in their seventies.

* * *

The main ceremonies Saturday night will take place on the heights of Douaumont to the north of the city, where the bodies of 15,000 French soldiers lie buried in a national cemetery and the bones of another 19,000 are housed permanently in a necropolis or "ossuary" surmounted by a 140-foot tower.

* * *

It was at Douaumont that some of the bitterest and bloodiest fighting raged. Even now unexploded shells and skeletons frequently are unearthed. In the past two months alone another 45 skeletons were dug up. It rarely is possible to identify them a either French or German.

Child Threatened

the crowd almost incoherently. He said he had lost a job in the Yukon and on Friday morning, had gone to police headquarters to seek some kind of assistance.

He asked for a cigarette, and a policeman threw a package to his feet.

All the time detectives and uniformed personnel pleaded with him to release the little girl.

CHILD CRIED

The child whimpered softly most of the time she was in the arms of her captor.

While she cried, police moved unobtrusively through the area with rifles, out of sight of the man.

Other police officers held back the steadily-growing crowds and communicated with walkie-talkies.

MENTAL PATIENT

Police discovered he had recently been released from Essondale Mental Hospital, and called his psychiatrist to the scene.

A priest was also called and talked to the man for several minutes.

Then he said he wanted to give an interview. Police called over a radio news reporter, who recorded a 10-minute tape of almost incoherent sentences, then left when he ran out of tape.

The little girl cried louder and said she wanted to go to the bathroom. Police pleaded with the man to let her go.

RAN TO CROWD

Then he stood up and shouted "Get back! Everybody get back!" Policemen scattered and he let the little girl go.

She started toward the crowd, tears streaming down her face, and was grabbed by spectators.

NOT CRITICAL

Police sprinted to where the man had fallen. He was loaded into an ambulance and taken to hospital. Officials said later the man's condition was not critical and he was expected to survive the knife wound.

SOUVENIRS

As the crowd surged toward the ambulance, a group of teenagers ran over to where the man had fallen. One youth bent down and scooped up a handful of blood-spattered dirt.

"Look at this — souvenirs," he said to his friends.

The French consulate in Huelva confirmed that one pilot, identified as Capt. Bertrend Olivier, 27, landed 3.8 miles from Huelva and bailed out safely from 3,000 feet. His aircraft hit the ground about 100 feet from the main road and burned.

There were reports not confirmed officially that another of the jets landed in Portuguese territory.

The Spanish news agency CIFRA said one of the jets went down near Lepe. It had been piloted by Sgt. Michel Misret, 27. Another plane was reported to have gone down near Villafrance, but the wreckage was not found immediately.

IWA Offers to Resume Talks

VANCOUVER (CP) — The prospects of settlement have brightened in B.C.'s biggest labor dispute — between the 26,000-member International Woodworkers' of America and Forest Industrial Relations Ltd., representing the giant Coast lumber operators.

In a statement issued Friday, the IWA offered to resume direct wage negotiations with FIR at 10 a.m., Tuesday.

In a statement to the B.C. labor department, the union said the appointment this week of Mr. Justice Nathan Nemetz of the Supreme Court as an industrial inquiry commissioner was premature.

The union is asking a pay increase of 50 cents an hour atop a basic wage of $2.36 and fringe benefits. The companies are asking protection against wildcat strikes.

The brightest labor note Friday in B.C. was the announcement of a settlement of a month-long strike involving the Glaziers and Glassworkers Union (CLC) and eight Vancouver companies.

Bail Reduced

VANCOUVER (CP) — Mr. Justice H. W. McInnes reduced bail for Rene Castellani, 40, to $15,000 from $25,000 because certain witnesses in the case are in Europe and will not be back for some time. Castellani is accused of the arsenic death of his wife last year.

Your Good Health

Those 'Deals' Between Meals Only Cause Frequent Squeals

By JOSEPH MOLNER, MD

Dear Dr. Molner: My four-year-old hardly touches his food at the table. However, within an hour after dinner he is looking for something to eat. I have tried everything, including bribes, no dessert without finishing dinner, etc. Have you any suggestions? — MRS. O.K.

You've tried everything except the one way that virtually never fails — and that's to put food before a child at mealtime, let him eat it or not, but establish a rule of no eating between meals. And make it stick.

GOOD RULE

A good rule is no dessert unless an adequate dinner has been eaten, but it won't cure the habitual food-fusser. The no-eating-between-meals will.

At the age four, any child can have some rather firm ideas and habits. As soon as you try my suggestion, I'm sure you'll run into some complaints and whining any maybe tears. Don't get mad. Just be firm. A healthy child's appetite, under such a rule, fairly soon makes it clear to him that the way not to be hungry is to eat his dinner when it is served.

NO FUSSING

Another part of the rule is this: No fussing at mealtime. If he doesn't even raise a fork, ignore it and ignore it just as firmly and calmly when, as he is sure do, he tries the old system that has always worked for him before: Trying to wheedle food an hour after dinner.

* * *

Dear Dr. Molner: If a chest X-ray is taken while the patient is letting breath out, does this make for a good result? Or should another picture be taken while the breath is being held? — MRS. J.S.

The best X-ray is when the patient is motionless and holding the breath in. X-rays are taken at exposure of about a tenth of a second or so — somewhat slower than the speed of an inexpensive camera. With a fast camera, you can shoot quickly, and the picture will be sharp. With a slow camera, any motion leaves the image somewhat blurred.

MOTION BLURS

That's how it is with an X-ray — the sharpest picture when there is the least motion. The best chest X-rays are taken with lungs inflated and the breath held.

If at the instant of exposure the patient is breathing, the X-ray still can show gross abnormalities, but another picture usually will be taken for a sharper image.

* * *

Dear Dr. Molner: The last two times I had alcoholic beverages I noticed blood in my urine. Is this coincidence or is there a relationship? — MRS. J.S.

Whether it is coincidence isn't the point. Something obviously is wrong in the urinary tract and an examination is necessary at once.

Quaife Studied Centennial Project

South Cowichan Group Brushes Off Project

COBBLE HILL — Driftwood and brush on Cherry Point beach have been cleared away to make a parking lot and picnic ground.

Chairman Jim Quaife said the recreation commission intends to build changing houses for swimmers and toilet facilities as soon as possible.

* * *

The project was suggested in January and the site was found to be a public beach.

* * *

The bulldozer was used to push the driftwood back and several loads of gravel have been spread.

* * *

Quite a community lives at Cherry Point now, and residents have offered to help the recreation committee, pleased that the beach debris is being cleaned up.

'We Must Study Our Children'

NANAIMO — "We must spend more time with children, because as individuals we know little about how children learn," Donald Bingham said here Thursday.

He said a move is being taken in this direction with the government offering grants to communities trying to solve social problems.

As examples he cited money made available to non-profit groups who are encouraging day care schools, for pre-school children and those receiving homes.

"We spend $66,000,000 a year, of which $8,000,000 is spent on child welfare," he said.

GREAT CONCERN

The well-being of children is of great concern when they are unable to take advantage of available education because of personality difficulties.

"This has caused the government to switch its interest in child welfare not only to the neglected child, but to every child.

MUST CATCH UP

"Unfortunately health and education have moved faster than welfare and we must catch up," Mr. Bingham said.

To help the problem he urged the council to ask Nanaimo school board to institute adult education classes on child behaviour.

Merchant Is Dead

DUNCAN — A pioneer businessman who came to Duncan 60 years ago, Roland Alfred Thorpe, died in a West Vancouver nursing home Thursday.

He was born in England in 1888 and came to Duncan in 1906. He worked at some of the early farms before opening his own furniture business in Duncan in 1911.

Always active in sports and youth work, Mr. Thorpe was a charter member of the PTA and also a president, and a trustee of the former Duncan consolidated school board.

For many years he was a member of the board of stewards of the Methodist Church, and organized the former Young People's League.

He is survived by his wife Ruby, two sons, Bertram, Victoria, and Rev. Leonard Thorpe, Courtenay. Also three daughters, Mrs. Herman (Berniee) Brown, Mrs. Alan (Aline) Stanhope and Mrs. Marshall (Myrtle) Haslam.

The funeral service will be held at Duncan United Church on Monday at 2 p.m., followed by burial at Mountain View Cemetery.

College Committee Looks for Answers

COURTENAY — Preparations are going ahead for presentation of a regional college plebiscite in early fall, but the local college advisory board is still seeking clarification of Marsh report findings.

The advisory committee was of the opinion that conclusions of the Marsh report on a regional college for Vancouver Island should be used as the basis of information in acquainting the public of the needs for and the location of a regional college for this area.

These conclusions indicated that a main campus should be built in the Nanaimo area and a branch campus should be located in the Courtenay-Campbell River area.

The advisory committee felt that the two-college concept should be clearly defined, and that the term "simultaneous development" of the two sites chosen should be understood by all concerned.

MacMillan, Bloedel Alberni Mill

Firm Sells Itself to Itself

PORT ALBERNI — Copies of a letter from MacMillan, Bloedel to the registrar of the Labor Relations Board have been received by union officers whose members work in the pulp mill.

The International Brotherhood of Pulp Sulphite and Paper Mill workers, the United Pulp and Paper workers, the International Brotherhood of Electric Workers and the Office Employees Union have all been advised that MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River Industries Alberni Limited has been sold to Alberni Pulp and Paper Ltd.

The letter explained that the pulp and paper plant has always been operated as a separate accounting entity, and is now being set up within its own corporate framework.

Under section 12 of the Labor Relations Acts, Alberni Pulp and Paper Limited will be bound by all labor contracts in force at the time of the sale, the letter confirmed.

In a joint statement, Jack Perry and Eric Pemberton, presidents of the two largest unions involved, the Paper Makers and the Pulp Sulphite Workers, said "the company has sold itself to itself."

'Easy Grade, Ease of Construction'

Horne Route Boosted

PORT ALBERNI — The Horne Lake Road would not be a matter of steep grades and expensive construction, Horne Lake Road Booster Committee has told Highways Minister Gaglardi.

George A. McKnight, chairman of the Boosters Committee, and Mrs. McKnight made the trip by car over the Lost Lake Trail on Monday, and report the easy grade and ease of road construction via this old Thompson-Clarke Railway Logging Grade makes it the logical course for a highway to follow.

SMOOTH ROAD

"We did have to ford a stream, where the water was about 15 inches deep, and the water course about 20 feet wide. Wet wirings stalled the car, but we dried it out and went on without difficulty," Mr. McKnight said.

"We soon came to a wide smooth logging road which leads on to Horne Lake through practically level country."

PAYMENT QUESTIONED

The committee has drafted a reply to Mr. Gaglardi, replying to various points raised in the minister's letter, and asking clarification of some points which it feels the minister did not answer.

Chief among these is the question of who actually built and paid for the present logging road.

IS IT PUBLIC?

The Booster Committee's letter says specifically: "Your letter did not answer the question about whether or not this present logging road from the junction with the public road to Esary Lake was built at public expense and is in fact, a public road. We feel that in the public interest this should be established."

OLD GRADE

The committee also contends that natural contours are available from the Alberni side, and that old railroad grades on the other side necessarily follow a very level course.

Such rock work as would be required is minor compared to some undertaken by the highways department, the committee says. Neither do they agree with Mr. Gaglardi about the rough terrain of the area.

"The top of the pass is only about 1,200 feet above sea level and both rail and truck logging operations have been carried on all over the area for over 30 years," the letter states. "In fact, it is relatively smooth terrain compared with many other areas where both logging roads and highways have been built all over the province."

Inadequacy of the present Cameron Lake Road to handle the traffic load in busy periods was given as another reason for promoting the Horne Lake Road.

CANNOT PASS

There is no place where cars may pass all the way from the top of the mountain to Whiskey Creek, making for very dangerous conditions where people take all sorts of chances to pass, the committee says.

"The results are a matter of death and accident statistics" the letter states.

NO DOUBLE

Tourists too, would prefer to come to a spot where they do not have to double back over their tracks to get out. The Horne Lake road would make possible a round trip where tourists could come in by Cameron Lake and Cathedral Grove, visit the Alberni Valley and drive out via Horne Lake.

It would also considerably cut mileage for Alberni residents wishing to visit the recreational areas around Qualicum, Qualicum Bay, Denman and Hornby Island and surrounding beauty spots, according to the Boosters.

Next step will be preparation of bumper strips promoting construction of the road, Mr. McKnight stated.

Beware Of May 27

PORT ALBERNI — Alberni Valley gardeners are learning to dread the 27th of May. Two years ago, an unexpected frost damaged gardens seriously on May 27.

Thursday night, a drop to 28 degrees, reported by McCoy Lake weatherman and nurseryman Colin Wilson, devastated tender plants and young vegetables in domestic and commercial gardens.

FRUIT SET

"We hope it won't hurt the strawberry crop too much" Mrs. Naesgaard said "some fruit is already set. We'll just have to wait and see."

Outward Bound

Gordon Back

NANAIMO — Nine-year-old Gordon Coburn has just returned from an all-expense trip to Ottawa as a guest of the BC Automobile Association.

Cumberland Hit by Hail

CUMBERLAND—Residents here watched with some dismay as hail pelted down on late spring and early summer blooms, Thursday.

The heavy fall left streets and roofs covered in white. As the evening progressed it became colder and froze hard with motorists scrambling to find their windshield scrapers.

Parksville Meet Attracts Athletes

PARKSVILLE — Although registrations were not as high as expected competition was keen in the annual Legion sponsored sports' meet for children held at Parksville high school grounds.

F. A. Roberts, sports' committee chairman for Mt. Arrowsmith Legion, was in charge of arrangements.

Winners of various events will go on to the Legion north central Island meet at Comox June 4 if accommodation can be arranged.

● First and second winners in the various events were: peewees, boys high jump, Bill Seymour, Gordon Sturtridge, long jump, Douglas Ellis, Bill Seymour, 50-yard dash, D. Ellis, G. Island Municipal Leaders Blast Five Per Cent Rule

By JOY HUNTLEY

CAMPBELL RIVER — Everywhere you turned, there was that five per cent again.

They will submit a resolution to the Union of B.C. Municipalities asking the provincial government to repeal its ruling that assessments cannot be increased more than five per cent in any one year.

Ladysmith presented the resolution, and also asked for endorsation of the method of calculating assessments at 50 per cent of market value, with no limitation on increases.

Also approved was a Saanich resolution that the B.C. Association of Assessors join in a study of the five per cent rule, with a view to making recommendations to the government, to clear up problems.

NEW PRESIDENT

The convention was attended by 50 municipal officials from 16 Island centres and Powell River.

* * *

Watts

* * *

Friday meeting, municipal officials spend too much time talking about the financial loads carried by municipalities. He said they should spned more time explaining the services they give for the money received.

ADVANCE NOTICE

Municipal Affairs Minister Campblel told the session "controversy is a valuable tool in democracy" and the department has tried to use this tool.

He said there are some areas where thinking must move forward.

WHO SHOULD RUN?

He said many people do not own their own homes, and the time may be coming when they should become participants in municipal government.

He said regional districts have gone ahead faster than expected, but the Lower Mainland "is still a blank."

Other resolutions approved by the association:

- The provincial government should adopt use of current population figures in calculating per capita municipal grants for years in which population figures are not available under the Canadian Statistics Act: Victoria.
- Provincial government should petition the federal government to include ambulance service as a sharable cost service under the national health scheme: Ladysmith.
- Provincial government assume a larger share of the capital costs of hospitals throughout the province until the property-owners' share is reduced to 10 per cent of the total cost: Oak Bay.
- Provinical government should repeal Section 46, Real Estate Act, and establish a scale of licence fees which municipalities may impose on real estate agents whose places of business are outside the municipality: Saanich.
- Provincial government should regulate or prohibit presence of dogs on beaches: Oak Bay.
- Driveways with a downgrade exceeding 20 per cent should be prohibited: Oak Bay.
- Beach-cleaning equipment should be purchased by the province and made available to municipalities: Oak Bay.
- The association support B.C. Hospital Association in its fight to have the federal authority increase its grant of $2,000 a bed: North Cowichan.

School Vote Today

LADYSMITH — Taxpayers in Ladysmith School District today will cast ballots on a $743,290 elementary school building and equipment referendum.

The district's share will be about $371,645 in property taxes which will raise the mill rate by one mill.

* * *

There are about 3,000 owner-electors in the Ladysmith School District including Chemainus residents.

Set for Tour

Whale Beats Decay

He remains as sweet-smelling as any whale ever is likely to be, and the quick-freezing job done on him in Seattle worked perfectly, according to Don Ivie of the Ute Corporation, his owners.

* * *

The carcass of the 35-ton sperm whale was purchased Wednesday at Coal Harbor on the West Coast of Vancouver Island. Peter Wilson, manager of the Western Canada Whaling Company, and his crew drew the thankless job of propping Herman up in a 40-foot trailer for the trip to Seattle.

"It was quite a job," recalled Mr. Wilson. "A dead whale usually reposes on its side, but we had to prop this one up in a trailer to look as realistic as possible."

He said the whale had been dead 30 hours when the Ute people arrived to take possession, and he wasn't very hopeful that it would keep very well on ice until it arrived at Seattle.

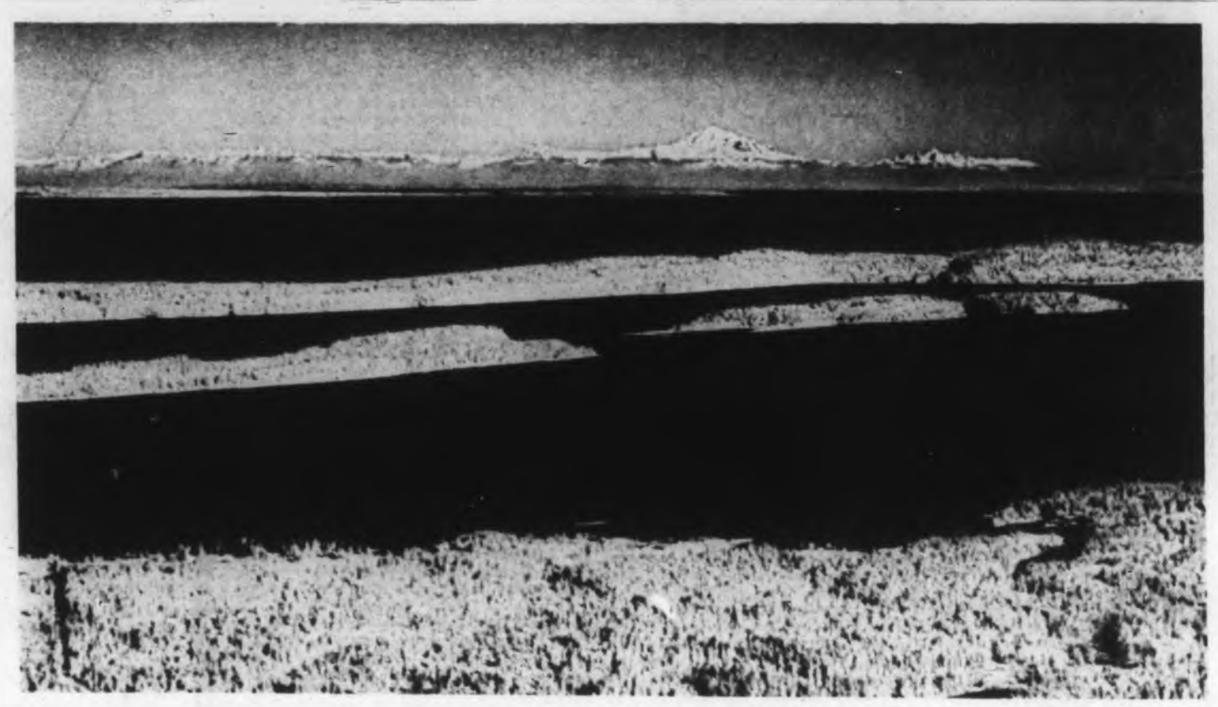
But Mr. Ivie said the whale arrived in good shape at Thursday midnight, and Union Carbide's division in Seattle quickly froze whale, trailer and all. At the moment, the whale unit stands at 20 below, and the aim is to keep it there with dry ice and other aids.

* * *

The trip down was made via logging roads to Campbell River through Nanaimo to Vancouver, and down to Seattle.

The huge trailer has four inches of styrofoam insulation and thermopane windows for exhibition. All in all, it makes a good hearse for a dead whale on a triumphant (?) tour.

First stop next week: Boise, Idaho.



Great Oyster Labor Fight May Shut Down Oystermen

By KLAUS MUENTER

LADYSMITH — The struggle between Ladysmith oyster grower Peter Limberis and the United Fishermen and Allied Workers Union has landed in court, and Mr. Limberis has won the first round.

PICKETS REMOVED

The injunction had been granted April 14.

It removed a picket line at Mr. Limberis' Thetis Island Oyster Company.

The union had set up the picket April 7.

At a recent court hearing at Victoria Mr. Justice T. W. Brown decided "As far as I could see there is no illegal lockout or legal strike.

"I am somewhat dubious as the regularity of the procedure they (union members) purportedly took to call a strike, and again I make no findings on the conflicting evidence before me that there is such a strike."

SUIT THREATENED

Mr. Limberis said "I am going to file a law suit against the union.

"Through the union's activities I have lost 99 per cent of my business.

"My name and the reputation of my business has been damaged.

MEN EMPLOYED

Mr. Limberis said his operation north of Ladysmith employs two men permanently, but sometimes as many as 20 depending on weather, tides and markets.

Now he employs one man one day a week.

TIDE PROBLEM

Mr. Limberis said in the evening of April 6 he phoned one of his workers who had started with his firm some days earlier, and told him there would be no work the next day because of tidal conditions, but there would be work during the weekend.

FIVE MEN

Mr. Limberis said, "Next morning five union men came and picketed the plant and they told me the picket was set up because of the lockout." He asked for an injunction which was granted April 14.

He said two days later 10 men milled around his operation a few feet from the post where the injunction order was placed.

TRUCK STOPPED

Mr. Limberis said April 26 the regular driver could not get through to the plant to pick up the oysters because an organizer of the United Fishermen and Allied Workers Union had blocked the roadway with his car.

He said the union organizer told the driver not to pick up the oysters because the union had declared them hot.

OYSTERS LOST

He said "We had to dump 20 gallons of oysters at a loss of over $100 and since then we have closed the plant because there is no place to ship the oysters."

At the recent court hearing Mr. Justice Brown in reference to the two incidents during the injunction said, "I must believe there was picketing in defiance of the injunction."

ANOTHER PICKET

Meanwhile United Fishermen and Allied Workers Union members have been picketing the nearby Timothy Oyster Company since April 25 after negotiations for a first contract between operators and the union faltered.

Normally there are four workers at Ed Timothy's operation but none of them is among the men who picket the plant, Mr. Timothy said.

MORE MONEY

Negotiations started February and workers want better pay and working conditions, more money for oyster harvest trips and other fringe benefits.

One of the former workers at one of the oyster operations said earlier the workers had approached the United Fishermen and Allied Workers Union about one and a half years ago because the workers wanted more pay and better working conditions.

POLLUTION

The spokesman stated at that time they did not negotiate for a contract last year because of the pollution problem that faced the oyster industry then. "but now we feel the operators can afford to pay better wages."

Remarking on the union demand for better working conditions, Mr. Timothy said, "I don't know what they want.

Another operation originally involved in the negotiation dispute, Marios-Falcos at Saltair has closed down and is up for sale.

Baker Seen Clearly

Is there really a well of offshore oil near Vancouver Island? This picture makes it appear that the well has been struck, and black gold surrounds the Gulf Islands. Actually, the black stuff is just water, caught in this infra-red photograph. Les Englefield took the shot from a plane over Cassidy, near Nanaimo. Main purpose of the infra-red process was to bring up Mount Baker (background) not visible with the naked eye. White substance on the ground is chlorophyll in the foliage, another trick of the process.

Group Hits Apathy

NANAIMO — Chase River Recreation Commission is having difficulty getting off the ground due to a lack of active interest by the area's residents.

At a general meeting Thursday night three people turned out besides the regular commission members.

TWO MEMBERS

The commission was given a shot in the arm with the election of two new members, Mrs. Noreen Weeks, and Mr. Jean Munn.

This brings the commission to six, but it is still looking for a secretary.

SOUTH WELLINGTON

Mrs. George Naylor said it is planned to arrange a meeting with a member of the South Wellington Recreation Commission in the near future to see how that organization got started.

"We can't do much with three or four members," Mrs. Naylor said.

BADMINTON

Badminton headed the list, but construction at the Chase River School has held up implementing this sport.

Nanaimo Babies Get Early Test

NANAIMO — All babies born at Nanaimo Regional Hospital are adequately checked for phenylketonuria, Dr. S. M. Grant said this week.

A week ago Dr. Thomas Perry, speaking at the B.C. Retarded Children's Association convention here, maintained tests for this form of mental retardation were not being done properly in B.C.

TEN DAYS

Dr. Perry said the test should be done 10 days to four weeks after birth, when the disease has had time to show up.

Dr. Grant, a pathologist at Nanaimo hospital, said the test here is done on the third or fourth day of life, and "as a rule phenylalanine is always high enough to be detected."

SURE SIGN

It is an insidious form of mental retardation with victims able to expect an otherwise normal life span.

Dr. Grant said a specimen of blood is taken from the infant, and the test done in Nanaimo is no different from that done in other hospitals in the province.

He said at the present time no other tests are being done to detect other forms of metabolic mental retardation because there are no facilities in the province for "en masse screen tests.

Board Busy

NANAIMO—The Labor Relations Board from the department of labor must be really busy.

Officials from the board were supposed to be in Nanaimo this week to check the records of the new Local 8 of the Pulp and Paper Workers of Canada, currently applying for jurisdiction of the 900 mill workers at Harmac, south of Nanaimo.

Local president Gordon Wickham said "so many negotiations have gone to conciliation they've not had a chance to come up."

Board of Referees

Labor Request Denied

NANAIMO — A request for a board of referees to be set up here has been turned down by the Unemployment Insurance Commission.

Nanaimo-Duncna and District Labor Council had asked for the board because appellants from all over Vancouver Island must travel to Victoria for hearings at the present time.

NO CHANGE

The UIC said no change will be made until organizational changes, now contemplated, are concluded.

At the labor council meeting Friday night Gordon Wilkinson, area representative for Canadian Labor Congress, said he is still working on setting up a labor council to serve the Campbell River, Courtenay area.

"We hope this will materialize, because there is an interest among the local unions."

Port Alberni and District Labor Council announced it is holding a survey on meat and grocery prices in the Alberni Valley to compare them with prices in other communities in the province.

In its letter, the Alberni council asked the Nanaimo council to send back a list of local prices.

BIG MEETING

On June 19 executives from labor councils on the Island will meet with representatives from the CLC in Nanaimo. Mr. Wilkinson outlined the benefits from such meetings.

He said there is a need for more co-ordinated action on matters of policy.

Housing Lack Serious

CAMPBELL RIVER—Critical housing shortage in this school district is causing school board concern because the board expects 20 new teachers and families to come in September.

The board has voted to hire a full-time co-ordinator for summer months to rent houses on the board's behalf.

The co-ordinator will pay the rent through the summer, to keep the houses vacant for the new teachers.

More Slots Demanded

DUNCAN — Postmaster Bob Corney warned Friday unless 80 per cent of 2,200 homes are equipped with mail boxes or letter slots, house to house delivery will not start.

Planned for the Duncan area are six walks of about five to six miles each with eight carriers.

By BEA HAMILTON

* * *

The eagle circled lower and lower, his gleaming eye on the tiny mite stumbling in the bush. Had the fawn kept still, even the keen-eyed eagle would scarcely have seen him but the baby didn't know that, and he was lonely and frightened.

* * *

And behind Kari, came her mistress, Derry Barner. This was on Porlier Pass Drive about 100 yards from Miss Barner's home.

Kari saw the great bird drop from the sky into the bush and the dog investigated with enthusiasm..

* * *

There arose a fearful scuffling; Miss Barner called to Kari in alarm — the dog ran out but went back in again immediately.

At this moment the eagle arose and circled low overhead, frustrated and furious, all hopes of Bambi steak gone.

* * *

Kari brought the fawn to Derry trustingly, and expressed her desire to adopt the new baby. Miss Barner discovered the dog had a gash on her leg, evidently the mark of the angry eagle.

Things at the Barner home have become complicated.

* * *

"Kari and I feed the fawn every three hours from a bottle," said Miss Barner. Kari supervises all care of the fawn and guards it day and night. As for the fawn, he thinks Kari is his mother and is quite happy with the new arrangements.

Now, she is just hoping the dog doesn't come across an abandoned cougar kitten.

2,000 Watch Helpless Girl Held Captive

He suddenly released the child, plunged the knife into his stomach and toppled to the ground.

Debbie Tans, four, was safe, after being clutched in the arms of a shouting, incoherent stranger, who held an eight-inch blade to her midsection.

Jiro Stankovic, 42, former Essondale mental patient, lay in hospital with a wound in the stomach, after stabbing himself Friday night, to end a chain of horrors.

Theodore Kaczor, 55, and his son Teddy, six, were recovering from stab wounds received in a terrible brush with knife-wielder.

The man said he was a Yugoslav. He talked in garbled, confused tones of his misery, unemployment and growing bitterness toward society, holding the police at bay with threats against the child.

Sometimes he used an electronic loudspeaker provided by the police, most of the time he bellowed hoarsely at the shadowy figures moving about him in the twilight.

NEAR WALL

Backed against the concrete wall of a building under construction, he told how the day before he had approached the Yugoslavian consulate to ask for a free ticket home—but had been refused.

Stankovic said he had been working at Hudson Hope in northern B.C. but was fired after two weeks. He said he stole a car and drove to Vancouver.

TOLD TO GO

Police were chasing him, he said, and Friday morning he went to the Vancouver police station to get help. They said he was crazy, and told him to go away, he claimed.

He wandered around all day Friday, then at 8 p.m. the terror started.

He grabbed six-year-old Teddy Kacsor.

Two older boys saw the inci-

Strike Called

Van Doos May Police Quebec

OTTAWA (CP) — Three companies of the Royal 22nd Regiment—some 450 men—and four RCAF Hercules transport planes Friday stood by near Quebec City for police duties after the Quebec Provincial Police decided to strike next Thursday.

MAJORITY

Robert Burns, legal adviser to the QPP Association, said exact figures for the voting were not immediately available but said the motion to strike had been carried by a "strong majority of those present."

The transport planes would be used to deploy the troops to key points in the province, and informants said more members of the "Van Doos" could be called up for police duty if necessary.

NEAR QUEBEC CITY

The troops are at Camp Valcartier, near Quebec City, and the planes at the Quebec City airport.

Officially, the defence department merely said the three companies of troops were on mobile command manoeuvres.

Informants said there have been negotiations between Ottawa and Quebec most of this week concerning possible use of the army as police.

Sources said the exercise was planned as an elaborate cover for assumption of police duties in case Quebec provincial policemen voted to strike immediately.

Run Out of Fuel

Six Pilots Escape Jets

SEVILLE, Spain (UPI)—Six French Mystere IV supersonic jets ran out of fuel and crashed near here Friday while on a navigation training flight from France to Seville. All six pilots parachuted to safety, airport sources here said.

The sources said the pilots exchanged agonizing messages by radio as, one by one, their engines cut out and their fuel gauges dropped to zero.

A curtain of secrecy immediately was dropped over the crashes, but in Paris the defence ministry announced that the planes were from the Cazaux base near Bordeaux.

They could not land at Seville "apparently because of meteorological conditions, and subsequently crashed because of lack of fuel," the ministry's communique said.

NO VICTIMS

"The pilots used their ejection seats and to our knowledge there were no victims among the pilots or the civilian population," the communique added. "There was no material damage on the ground. An inquiry is in progress."

Five of the pilots were reported here to have been taken to the Spanish-American naval base at Cadiz. The sixth pilot was said to be in Huelva.

An airport spokesman confirmed that the planes were due at Seville's civilian airport of San Pablo for refuelling. He re-

Concord Engine Whacked

BRISTOL, England (UPI) —An unknown saboteur damaged part of the engine being developed here for the Anglo-French supersonic Concord jet airliner project, the Bristol Siddeley Co. announced Friday night.

It said the damage would not affect development of the engine as a whole.

A spokesman for the company said someone had taken a hammer and damaged a shaft for an Olympus 593B engine Thursday night.

Beside the hammer was a note which read, "This is the mallet which did the job. I wish I could be here to see the fun."

Anti-Inflation Squeeze Stays, But . . .

Health Projects Go Ahead

By JACK FRY
Legislative Reporter

Public Works Minister William Chant Friday eased the government's new health priority program into operation by announcing that work will continue on three provincial health facilities in British Columbia.

But he reiterated that the government's anti-inflation measures are still in effect, and denied a report in another newspaper that the "big squeeze" has been loosened on all major government projects.

* * *

The new developments are in keeping with recent policy statements by Premier Bennett that although the public works department has been instructed to delay any project in which the bids are out of line, a number one priority will be given to health and mental health facilities.

Mr. Chant Friday opened tenders which had been called for excavation of a site for a new mental hospital, on the eastern side of Royal Jubilee Hospital.

* * *

Lowest bid was $20,464 submitted by Dillabough and Luney of Victoria. Other bids were Wakeman and Trimble Construction Ltd., Victoria, $24,333; Oliver Equipment Service and Supply Ltd., Victoria, $26,480; Chr Excavating Ltd., Victoria, $26,850 and C. J. Oliver Ltd. of Vancouver, $29,500.

A contract will probably be awarded within a week, said the minister.

Other health projects on the priority list include the multi-million dollar Glendale retarded children's complex about a mile north of the Wilkinson Road jail and an expansion of the Burnaby mental health clinic which will be renamed the Burnaby residential care centre.

Programming has been started on the Glendale project, but plans have yet to be drawn. Mr Chant said it is possible construction can be started before the end of the year.

* * *

Excavation work at Burnaby is expected to be done in July and work on this project will be phased out on a continuous basis from then on.

The government's public works slowdown was brought about by a "tremendous upsurge of costs," said Mr. Chant. "But some of the buildings we simply must proceed with because of the public need."

* * *

The new provincial museum was one of the projects where work came to a near standstill, while plans were being redrawn to cut down expenses.

Tenders for the revised version will probably be called about a month from now, although the tall curatorial building "may have to come later," the minister said.

Malaysians, Indonesians laugh together in Kuala Lumpur

Goodwill Crushes 'Crush'

KUALA LUMPUR (AP) — Deputy Prime Minister Tun Abdul Razak of Malaysia said Friday Indonesia's undeclared war against his country has "unofficially ended."

This is proved, he said, by the unprecedented visit of an Indonesian goodwill mission made up of military men, most of them connected with the "crush Malaysia" command, which directed the confrontation begun three years ago.

The eight-man mission brought word from Indonesian strongman Lt.-Gen. Suharto that the military authorities in power in Jakarta sincerely want to end the feud with Malaysia, Razak said.

* * *

The deputy premier told a press conference the visit did much to remove any doubts Malaysia may have had about peace talks in Bangkok, Thailand, between Razak and Indonesian Foreign Minister Adam Malik, scheduled to begin Monday.

Razak said he is confident the talks will succeed and added half-jokingly that now there is "nothing very much to be discussed."

* * *

The Indonesian military delegation arrived Friday morning aboard an Indonesian Air Force transport that had been given special clearance by the Malaysians in secret arrangements said to have been conducted on a rush basis in Bangkok.

The officers, led by Rear Admiral O. B. Sjaaf, spent seven hours here in the northern Malaysian town of Alor Star, in discussions with Malaysian leaders.

50 Years Since History's Longest, Bloodiest Battle

500,000 Flocking to Verdun

VERDUN, France (UPI) — More than 500,000 persons will join President de Gaulle today in commemorating the 50th anniversary of the Battle of Verdun. France's greatest military victory and the longest and bloodiest battle in the history of war.

* * *

It was in the Battle of Verdun, lasting more than 500 days in 1916 and 1917, that the French held and finally flung back the invading Germans in the First World War.

More than 400,000 Frenchmen and more than 300,000 Germans died in the holocaust.

* * *

Today and Sunday morning de Gaulle will lead the nation in all-French Commemorations of what Frenchmen remember with pride as an all-French victory. The ceremonies will be climaxed by a broadcast speech to the nation by de Gaulle at noon Sunday.

* * *

Verdun, a small eastern French city of 30,000, already was jammed with pilgrims arriving by rail and road. French tricolor flags draped every public building. Every other shop window featured a photograph of First World War French soldiers.

More than 5,000 police and thousands of French army troops were mobilized to control the vast crowds. Highways in a radius of 35 miles from the city were strictly guarded. Police helicopters roared overhead continuously.

* * *

Verdun is still a French army garrison town and all army barracks in the vicinity were vacated to provide sleeping room for the vast influx of pilgrims — including an estimated 40,000 First World War veterans, now in their seventies.

* * *

The main ceremonies Saturday night will take place on the heights of Douaumont to the north of the city, where the bodies of 15,000 French soldiers lie buried in a national cemetery and the bones of another 19,000 are housed permanently in a necropolis or "ossuary" surmounted by a 140-foot tower.

* * *

It was at Douaumont that some of the bitterest and bloodiest fighting raged. Even now unexploded shells and skeletons frequently are unearthed. In the past two months alone another 45 skeletons were dug up. It rarely is possible to identify them a either French or German.
